EDMONTON'S ...SE SHOW MADE A RECORD START

George Pepper, Well Known Judge, Has Nothing But Praise to Bestow.

PREDICTS THIS DISTRICT WILL HAVE BEST 'HEAVIES'

Speaks Volumes for Success of Farming Industry in Locality.

"If the horse breeding industry in the country surrounding Edmonton continues to improve as it has improved during the last three years there will soon be no locality in Canada that will have better heavy draft horses than Edmonton and the adjacent territory."

This was the statement made to the Capital today by George Pepper, of Toronto, the well known horse judge who was one of the judges at the Edmonton Spring Horse Show last week.

Mr. Pepper has had thirty years experience among horse shows and he declared this morning that in all that time he had seen no better first show than that which was held here last week. There have been bigger shows, but for a first year there has been nothing to equal the start that Edmonton has made. Mr. Pepper further declared that the show would not be surpassed in the dominion this year. The exhibition of high jumping was magnificent and the interest shown throughout the show both by breeders and by the public generally was unexcelled.

"The president, manager and directors are to be congratulated," Mr. Pepper added, "on the magnificent way in which everything was handled. There was not a single hitch from the start to the finish, the classes being brought in promptly one after the other, so that there was no waste time and no waiting for the public. The exhibit of heavy horses was most encouraging and in a horse raising district like Edmonton, must be regarded as the most important feature of the whole show. It speaks volumes for the success of the farming industry in this locality."

Management is Pleased.

Manager Stark, seen today was unable to make any statement as to the financial success of the Edmonton Horse Show, but stated that the management of the show was very pleased with the manner in which the people of Edmonton and neighborhood had shown their appreciation of the management's efforts in endeavoring to provide for Edmonton one of the best horse shows in the dominion.

The exhibition staff are working hard today compiling a statement of the receipts of the show for the week, and Manager Stark expects to be in a position to make an announcement tomorrow.

Exhibitors Very Enthusiastic.

Several large exhibitors at the Edmonton show seen today expressed their admiration at the way in which the show had been run, declaring that it was the best managed show they had ever attended.

Their comments were very enthusiastic on the fact that 180 classes had been put on at the show and every class had followed on like clockwork, without a single postponement. Every item that was advertised on the program for any performance took place and there was no room for apologies. This probably cannot be said of any other show in the dominion.

James O'Dea Dead.

New York, April 13.—James O'Dea, author of several well-known musical comedies and popular songs, died yesterday at his home at Rockville Center, Long Island of pneumonia. Mr. O'Dea was born in Hamilton, Ont., in 1871. He married Miss Anne Caldwell, playwright, nine years ago, and shortly afterward began to turn his attention to writing lyrics for musical comedies. His first success in this field was "The Wizard of Oz." He collaborated with his wife in writing "The Top o' the World" and "The Lady of the Slipper."

For and Against Krafchenko

Winnipeg, Man., April 13.—Petitions asking for clemency on behalf of Jack Krafchenko are being circulated today by J. D. Suffield Krafchenko's counsel, and an effort will be made to secure a large number of signatures. It is stated that unknown parties are preparing counter petitions, asking that Krafchenko's sentence be not commuted.

TO DEVELOP THE BEST IN EACH INDIVIDUAL IS LARMOUTH'S IDEA

Superintendent J. H. Larmouth of the street railway department is getting nicely settled in his new surroundings and although he has not made any radical changes up to the present several changes are being contemplated in the near future. Mr. Larmouth when interviewed by a Capital reporter stated that the main idea up to the present was to inspire confidence in the men as they were apparently not working as a unit and for the betterment of the system it was essential that the men give their hearty co-operation to all the work of the street railway department and this would indirectly help the other departments.

Mr. Larmouth went on to say that in his opinion the street railway was one of the greatest organizations for the public service ever developed and was looked to as a leader in the development of the highest ideals in public service. He stated that in a growing city like Edmonton the system was bound to extend and develop and therefore the men would have a chance to come to the front, especially the younger men. Larmouth went on to say that the trouble with the majority of the men was that they were satisfied with less than their best and that their limitations were in the forefront instead of being absorbed by their work and responsibility was shirked without knowing it. He wanted his men to live up to a verse often spoken:

"So you think that there is no place waiting for you;
That the boys are too many and the Jobs are too few.
Just a word in your ear: By the time you prepare
To hold down a good job the job will be there."

And this is what he wished to inspire into his employees in the Edmonton Radial railway.

Mr. Larmouth went on to say that charts and diagrams could be drawn outlining the different properties to show the interdepartmental relations and who's who, but the most ingenious diagram could give no hint about the real efficiency of the corporation which is thus pictured. One of the basic problems that Mr. Larmouth desires to solve is, how to develop the best in each individual, how can teamwork be fostered between these individuals, how can so definite a character be given to the organization as a whole that its attitude and aims will be justly crystallized in the behavior and expressions of its employees and be understood by the public, and in this study Mr. Larmouth would include the employees all the way down to the man on the platform.

Mr. Larmouth is of the opinion that the first task in teamwork must be the development of the individual, not only the individual at the bottom but also the individual at the top and if the company or corporation would not condescend to study the individual needs of its men, the men were not very likely to study the needs of the company.

Mr. Larmouth stated that a great many companies now had meetings of the general manager and departmental heads at stated intervals and this practice was an excellent one so far as it went, but he was of the opinion that it should be carried further still on some occasions, and the foremen and subordinates taken into conference in order that the men might have some insight into the other fellow's problems, and therefore the men would feel in a friendly spirit towards each other in order that every move that was made would be for the best for all and not for the individual.

For instance, the track engineer when figuring on the comparative costs of rail joints should not try to "put one over" on the power and accounting departments by ignoring the value of the electrical energy that he might have to take from the trolley line for installing those joints. It might be true that he wanted to make the best showing for his department, but he must not forget that the teamwork between the power department and himself was going to fall as soon as the former discovered the leak, and teamwork means "keep down the other departments expense as willingly as your own."

Mr. Larmouth's address will be continued by saying that it was not so much what the men did as what they said that would win the good will of the public. It is true, stated Mr. Larmouth that each man individually was only a very small fraction of the system but in another sense he was really "the" system, for his every word and action might be interpreted by the public as the spirit animating the street railway as a whole.

Mr. Larmouth concluded by stating that it would be one of his chief ambitions to install confidence in his employees thereby gaining one of the greatest points for the building up of a paying and efficient service for the city of Edmonton.

EQUERRIES BROKE; "CONTRARY MARY" STOPS PRECEDENT

London, April 13.—Now that the army crisis is over King George has to face another that has been pending for some time and that lately was the subject of a good deal of talk and comment about the court. Several equerries are in financial difficulties.

The fact is that a number of equerries and lords-in-waiting are quite unable to bear the expense which their position in the royal household entails.

The crisis is the direct outcome of reforms introduced by Queen Mary. In King Edward's time, members of the royal household used to add to their incomes by taking commissions from tradespeople and in some other ways. King George might have been disposed to allow this sort of thing to continue without asking any questions, but Queen Mary was always determined to put a stop to it. She had some difficulty in doing so, but ultimately succeeded.

Writ Against Premier

Woodstock, Ont., April 13.—A supreme court writ has been issued against James K. Fleming, Premier of New Brunswick, W. H. Berry and Edgar R. Teed, on behalf of Timothy Lynch and company, limited, lumbermen for the recovery of $1,830 and costs in connection with the alleged payment of money by the Lynch estate in the matter of timber bonus charges made on the floors of the New Brunswick legislature a few days ago. This action is taken by F. B. Carvell, K.C., M.P., who is solicitor for the Lynch company.

It is announced that the basis of this suit is information in the possession of Mr. Carvell to the effect that the Lynch company, without the knowledge and consent of a sufficient number of directors, is alleged to have paid over $1,830, amounting to $15 a square mile of its timber limits in connection with timber business.

SEEDING STARTS IN EDMONTON DISTRICT; MOISTURE IS NEEDED

Farmers in the Edmonton district are at work on the land today putting in their spring wheat. The ground is in fairly good condition to start the seed germinating, but some moisture as soon as the seed is in will do good. There has been the usual amount of moisture during the winter, some 41 inches of snow having fallen—equal to 4-1 inches of rain. Owing to the fact that the snow came mostly in small quantities and went away gradually there was a great deal of evaporation and the soil is rather drier than the amount of precipitation would indicate.

China Cock the Winner.

London, April 13.—At the Kempton Park Easter meeting today the Queen's prize, a handicap of 1,000 pounds one mile and a half won by P. Nelkes China Cock, a four-year-old colt carrying 7st 6lb, who started at the unusually short price of four to one on, this being due largely to the double success the same owner achieved in the Lincolnshire handicap and the Liverpool spring cup, winning the former with Outram, and the latter with today's winner who carrying the same weight correspondingly high. In conclusion, Cock is by Santoi High Feather, and is trained by M. Wing. G. D. Smith's Bonfire, 11 to 2 was second, and Lord Carnrvons Rivola, 20 to 1, third.

Moose Jaw Farmers Preparing.

Moose Jaw, Sask. April 13.—If the present warm weather continues the middle of the week will see seeding general in the Moose Jaw district, and the end of the week should see the greater portion of the wheat down. Present indications are that the spring wheat will be in the ground four or five days earlier than last year. The farmers report that the present weather conditions are all that can be desired and that there is sufficient moisture in this district.

DOZEN HORSES ARE BURNED IN BLAZE AT SPRUCE GROVE

Stables Owned by Well-known Railway Contractor Completely Gutted.

THREE EQUINES MISSING; RUMORED THIEVES' WORK

Thought Men Started Fire to Cover up Their Tracks.

Ten or 12 valuable horses burned to death is the report that has been received from Spruce Grove by the mounted police. According to the information to hand, the large stable belonging to Don Grant, a railroad contractor were completely destroyed by fire, burning at least 10 or 12 valuable horses.

How the fire started is a mystery yet, but it is thought that three railroad men who slept in the buildings are responsible. This theory is strengthened by the fact that three horses are not accounted for, and it is thought that the fire was started from the pipe of one of the men or by the careless throwing away of a lighted match and that the three horses were used to make a getaway.

On the other hand it has been rumored that it was a clear case of theft and that the fire was started in the hopes that everything would be burned beyond recognition and thereby making it impossible to tell by the charred remains just how many animals perished.

Mr. Grant at the time of the fire was in Edmonton staying at the Royal George hotel and as soon as he was notified, he left in his auto for the scene accompanied by one of the mounted police of this city. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars. Only a week ago the owner had refused $800 for one team of horses. How much insurance, if any, is not yet known.

BRITAIN SPENT $18 PER HEAD ON DRINK DURING PAST YEAR

London, April 13.—Great Britain's annual drink bill, to which attention, as usual at this period of the year, is called by the United Kingdom alliance temperance organization, shows a greatly increased consumption over 1912. The total amount expended on alcoholic liquors in 1913 was nearly 167,000,000, more than five millions above the 1912 figures. The average expenditure works out at £3 12s. 5d. per head. Since 1910 the per capita expenditure on drink has increased by nearly three shillings and sixpence. The papers generally contend that this does not mean that the nation is growing less temperate. It simply means a period of sustained prosperity. "Heavy drinking and good trade," says the Daily Mail, "go together."

THINKS BIG POWERS WILL NEVER AGAIN ENGAGE IN WAR

"Is War Necessary" was the subject taken up in the negative by W. B. Turner at the people's forum last night. Mr. Turner dwelt upon the probability of complete disarmant if a quadruple alliance is made between France, Germany, United States and Great Britain. He pointed out that there are two kinds of peace—the peace of law and the peace of force. The former exists in America where there are 4,000 miles of international line and not a soldier guarding it while in Europe there is always a standing army which makes the taxes correspondingly high. In conclusion, Mr. Turner remarked that it was his candid opinion that there would never be war again between any civilized nations.

Several persons discussed the subject and a number of musical selections were rendered during the evening.

READ OF WEST BUT UNABLE TO SEE IT

Donald Stobey, Blind Ontario Pioneer, Worked on C.P.R. 30 Years Ago.

VISITING SONS IN ALBERTA

Has Mastered Art of "Blind Reading" and So Makes Life Bearable.

A sad, but rather remarkable sight was witnessed this morning at the depot of the C.N.R., on First-street, in the person of Donald Stobey, an old man, nearing 70 years of age, accompanied by his 11-year-old niece, Mary, as they sat waiting the arrival of the west bound train for McBride, on the line of the G.T.P., some 350 miles west.

The old man is totally blind, and came from Whitby, Ont., and arrived in Edmonton via C.P.R. from California this morning, whence he had come from the east. His married daughter and his two sons are living at the western town, and have been there for nearly two years, during which time he has been living in the little old Ontario town with another daughter, and has been looked after and cared for by the little niece who now accompanies him on his way to the new home in the west.

His enthusiasm over the west is great, for nearly thirty years ago he took on the construction work of the first line of the C.P.R. through Winnipeg and the great country west of it, but he has never seen it, nor will he, for he is totally blind and has been for nearly fifteen years. He is well educated and has accomplished the art of "blind reading" to a remarkable degree. To help pass the time more quickly this morning, he kept himself reading a huge book, which he said contained none of the passages of scripture and interesting stories of the Bible which he learned to love when his sight was with him.

The book he read was a remarkable piece of work. To a man with the full use of his eyes it meant nothing, it appeared a mere jumble of tiny spots far too numerous to count, and certainly much more difficult to understand. But to the delicate sensitive touch of Donald Stobey's fingers, these same perforated dots mean knowledge and the joy of reading, in fact, life itself. As he ran his fingers nimbly and lightly over page after page, it appeared to bystanders that perhaps after all, life to the blind, at least to such as the good old Scotch soul, Donald Stobey, is not such a burdensome thing after all.

He has made the best use of his affliction, and after many long and difficult years in the study of the "blind man's book" he was able to master it perfectly, and can read and understand with perfect ease the sayings of each page.

Mr. Stobey was for many years an inmate of the Institute for the blind at St. Catharines, Ont., and it was there he received his "blind education." The books he uses are called the "New York Point" edition, and are in use more or less throughout the dominion for the use of the blind.

MONEY CENTERS LOOKING TO WEST WITH INTEREST

Penitentiary Grounds May Shortly Be Put Up at Auction—Morley Donaldson Coming to Edmonton to Arrange Agreement Regarding Entrance of Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mayor McNamara returned with Mrs. McNamara on the Grand Trunk Pacific at 10 o'clock Saturday evening. Early yesterday morning his worship and Mrs. McNamara took advantage of the lovely weather to motor to their farm "Riverside" near Wetaskiwin returing this morning.

His worship when seen this morning was very much enthused over the result of the money bylaws and his trip to the east, and is running over with new ideas which will be of benefit to the city.

Mayor McNamara stated that with regard to debentures nothing definite had been decided upon because he had left the east prior to his hearing of the result of the bylaws last Monday, but felt assured that there would be little difficulty in disposing of the city's debentures. He stated that at the present time there was any amount of money to be had in the money markets but the firms were holding off until the trouble over the Ulster movement had been settled. At the present time the people in New York were looking towards western Canada with deep interest and at the present time there are over $12,000,000 in Alberta loans taken up by these people.

While in the eastern cities he visited several large cities and secured much valuable information relating to a municipal stockyard and public abatoir for the city of Edmonton which will be placed before the committee this week.

In an interview relative to the penitentiary grounds with Hon. Robert Rogers, the mayor stated that Mr. Rogers was of the opinion that these grounds should be disposed of by public auction and given to the highest bidder and the city would have the privilege of bidding. This would throw open the grounds and help to develop and benefit the city by taxing this property. Mr. Rogers stated that he would try and have this property thrown open this year if possible. Mayor McNamara intends asking the council to take some action along this line as soon as possible.

His worship took up the matter of the agreement between the Grand Trunk Pacific and the city regarding their entrance here with several of the most prominent railway officials in the east and the railway commission, who informed him that they were very anxious to have an amicable settlement arrived at as speedily as possible. He added that Morley Donaldson, the vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, accompanied with their solicitor, Mr. Hansard, would probably be in the city tomorrow and a definite settlement would be made.

SEALING STEAMER KITE WITH CREW OF SEVENTY IS BELIEVED TO BE LOST

St. John's, Nfld., April 13.—The sealing steamer Kite, with her crew of seventy, is now believed to have been lost in the blizzard in which the steamers Newfoundland and Southern Cross were destroyed.

Capt. Windsor of the Bloodhound arrived from the northern sealing fields today and reports that a member of the Kite's crew was found dead on the ice floes. There was no trace of the other men of the Kite, which is now overdue a week.

St. John's, Nfld., April 13.—The Kyle, after cruising over an ocean area of 1,600 miles during the past ten days, returned to port at 8 o'clock last night to take bunker coal, and sailed again this forenoon to resume search over the place where the steamer Bloodhound has reported wreckage. In marine circles doubt is expressed as to wreckage being that of the Southern Cross, and this gives rise to fear of another disaster.

The ships still out on front of the island are the Range, Diana, Fogota, Sigma and Kite, all of which have been reported since gale except the Kite, and Fogota, the smallest ships out.

The Fogota is a lightly constructed iron ship. The Kite, an old wooden vessel.

The Kyle will report from the scene of the wreckage tomorrow forenoon, and it is hoped will clear up the mystery of the Southern Cross's disappearance.

Minister of Marine Picott, who was on the Kyle, believes that if the wreckage seen by the Bloodhound, is from the Southern Cross the Kyle should have come upon it during their search as she passed over the area which it should drift early last week, and three or four times since it lay in their track to and from the Virgin Rocks, but not a thing was seen.

HEAVY FIGHTING IS REPORTED; FEDERALS RETAKING SAN PEDRO

Torreon, Mexico, April 11, via El Paso, April 13.—Heavy fighting was in progress at San Pedro yesterday, the federals having re-taken the town two days previous. It is reported also that a federal force of 3,000 men, believing this city to be lightly garrisoned, is on its way to re-capture the place. A surprise awaits them, for when General Villa sent pursuers after General Velasco he left 500 men here.

Lind in Washington.

Washington, D. C., April 13.—John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, returned to Washington today, after a long absence. Mr. Lind, greeted inquirers by asking if it were true that Rear Admiral Mayo had been ordered to revoke his demand for the firing of a salute to the American colors at Tampico, and when he was informed that President Wilson had insisted that the salute be fired, he smiled approvingly.

For Becker's Second Trial.

New York, N. Y., April 13.—The second trial of Charles S. Becker, former police lieutenant, found guilty of murder with the four gunmen executed today will be given on May 4th, if the district attorney has his way. It was said at the district attorney's office today that Mr. Whitman, will appear before a supreme court justice on Wednesday and move to set the trial for that date.

Detained at Quarantine

New York, N. Y., April 13.—All the steerage passengers from the White Star steamship Celtic, from Alexandra and Naples, were transferred to Hoffman Island when the vessel arrived today because of four cases of typhus fever which had been found among them. The Celtic was detained at quarantine.

EASTER SERVICES LOCAL CHURCHES WELL ATTENDED

The beautiful weather yesterday tended to make Easter Sunday a day of beauty and happiness combined with the exquisite millinery and the new garments donned by ladies for the first time.

Never before has the seating accommodation of the churches in this city been so taxed, and hundreds were turned away at both the evening and morning services. The several choirs who have no peer in Canada excelled themselves, the ministers spoke about the risen Christ who died for us. This is a subject that is always acceptable, especially to the younger generation, and has never been more beautifully and appropriately spoken upon than yesterday. The churches were all decorated with Easter lilies which were in abundance everywhere and gave one the joyful feeling of springtime and the mystic beauty of the coming summer.

Again Under Arrest.

Brandon, Man., April 13.—Robert Love, the Brandon farmer, who was released on suspended sentence last week for obtaining money from the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was again placed in the police dock this morning on a charge of obtaining goods to the value of $1,600 from Howard Leslie, a store keeper. Love was remanded till Thursday morning.

Doubt of General Strike.

Rome, April 13.—Leaders of the disaffected Italian railroad men who hitherto have declined to consider any compromise are beginning to question the advisability of calling a general strike Wednesday. Efforts are being made to obtain further concessions from the government so as to enable the strike leaders to cover their retreat.

SENSATIONAL EXHIBITION OF HIGH JUMPING FEATURE OF LAST HORSE SHOW DAY

Smokey, Owned by D. P. McDonald, Makes New Alberta Record With Six Feet Six Inches Jump and Gives Sifton String Run for Money—First Exhibition Was Bigger Success Than Anticipated.

Culminating with a sensational exhibition of high jumping, Saturday's proceedings at the Edmonton Spring Horse Show eclipsed all the splendid performances which had preceded. While the attendance at the afternoon and evening performances was not so great as on Friday—which was the popular day on account of being a public holiday—the seats around the arena were well filled throughout the day. Nothing that had happened during the week created so much excitement and enthusiasm as the high jumping contest with which the day was concluded.

Six horses took part, and while five of them belonged to the Sifton string, the sixth horse, "Old Smokey," as he was affectionately called by the crowd, was sufficient in himself to take the competition keenly exciting to the very last jump.

The Sifton horses performed magnificently, but the great horse, Confidence, did not come up to expectations, partly owing to a series of accidents which, small in themselves, yet occurring together, were probably sufficient to materially injure the horse's chances. Twice Confidence put a foot through a board fence which formed part of the hurdle, and although he showed no lameness he wrenched the foot considerably; on another occasion a dragoon, not seeing that the horse had started for the hurdles, had to make a fast sprint to get out of danger, and Mr. Hamilton, who was riding Confidence, checked the horse's speed, which perhaps accounted for the hose failing in the third attempt. Just before this Confidence had cast a shoe, and it was with a shoe missing that he took the jump. In the end The Wasp (Captain Sifton) carried off the first prize, with Confidence (Hon. Clifford Sifton) second, and Smokey (D. P. McDonald) third.

It was the unexpectedly brilliant performance of the little horse, Smokey, seventeen years old, that took the crowd by storm. Smokey broke his own and the Alberta record in a splendid jump, clearing six feet six inches without turning a hair. The previous record for Alberta was six feet three inches, made by Smokey. Later in the contest he cleared six feet ten inches and afterwards made a plucky attempt at the seven feet one and a half inches high. Cheer upon cheer rang through the huge pavilion at the splendid performances of the little horse. With the hurdle at six feet it was just possible from the press box to see Smokey's ears over the top bar, and when other bars were added it seemed impossible that the horse could jump so much more than his own height. The other competing horses were Hercules, owned by Mrs. C. Sifton, and Ironsides (Hon. Clifford Sifton). The former took the fourth prize.

Lochryan Princess added to her long list of successes during the week the hundred dollar cup given by Thomas Rookes of the Alberta hotel for the best high stepper, the harness championship and the harness horse special, a silver cup valued at $100, given by Robt. McDonald, of the Selkirk hotel. This wonderful mare has carried almost everything before her. The saddle horse championship went to Ravello, owned by Hon. Clifford Sifton. The roadster championship was won by Richard Lou, a splendid trotter owned by J. B. Alcock.

Cowboy horses, shown by cowboys in costume, and put through some dazzling riding feats, was another fine feature of the evening performance. Master Morris Tees, quite a small boy, competed with brawny cowboys in this section and took fourth award. There was a splendid turn out of gaily caparisoned heavy horses for the four horse team prizes which went to the Pacific Cartage Co., P. Burns Co., and A. Ingram, in the order named.

The Citizens' Band discoursed excellent music during the evening. The R.N.W.M.P. musical ride was again a successful feature. An exhibition was also given of how officer's chargers should be ridden. The little girl who goes through the performance of making her horse lie down, was unable to give her exhibition, on account of the horse being too sore from being knocked about in the car, but she rode into the arena and was presented with a box of chocolates enwrapped in the show colors.

Edmonton's Spring Horse Show is now history. It was a grand success, and will linger long in the memory of the thousands who witnessed it. It was the association's first attempt at a real big show, and they have been successful beyond their highest expectations. To the directors and management of the Edmonton Exhibition association, under whose auspices it was held, all credit is due for the wonderful success of their undertaking, and to the public spirited citizens of Edmonton and Alberta for their pride and interest shown in the event.

Edmonton can justly lay claim to having staged the greatest event of its kind ever held in western Canada, and when the time rolls around for the Horse Show next year it goes without saying that it will be still greater than its predecessor. We have seen horses, the cream and pick of the province, we have seen the best of other provinces, provincial champions and world champions were here, all were present at Edmonton's Spring Horse Show and helped to make it one grand success. The management of the show are pleased, the owners and breeders of horses are pleased, the farmers and merchants are pleased, and the public and Edmonton as one great city are happily satisfied with their first big venture at a horse show exhibition.

"Kiddies" Enjoy the Show

Saturday morning was Children's Day and thousands of the little tots accompanied by their parents were present, to enjoy the exhibitions of children's events. The results and winners of the morning's events were published in the Capital Saturday afternoon.

Thirty-two children from the Children's Shelter were guests of the exhibition association Saturday morning at the Children's performance. The little folks were furnished with transportation to and from the arena through the kindness of the street railway department and from first to last their morning's outing was one of unalloyed bliss.

At the close of the performance Mr. George Pepper of Toronto, one of the judges at the horse show, treated the children each to a box of candy, a bag of apples and oranges, and a generous helping of ice cream and cake served by the Y. W. C. A. and they departed for home tired but happy. Miss Jackson and Miss Robinson chaperoned the party.

The Afternoon Performance

Only a fair sized crowd was present at the afternoon's performance, many apparently waiting for the big finish show of the evening, and this proved to be the fact, for a much larger crowd was present in the evening. Those that were present in the afternoon enjoyed a splendid program of events, some of which were very classy. The ladies' tournout and the polo ponies provided two exceptionally fine shows, the Musical Ride was given and the cavalry horses and high steppers provided two extra special events.

Best Cartage Team

The Pat Burns company, showing Prince and Farmer, took first money for best cartage team. A. Ingram was second and Swift Canadian company, third. The novice carriage horse event was won by J. E. Lambert of the Imperial stables with the beautiful bay mare, Maid. Williamson Taylor's Wild Rose was second and another Lambert horse Portia got third.

Saddle Horse, Ladies' Turnout

A $75 silver cup and $15 were offered for the best turned out saddle horse, and was won by Johnston's Pride, with Parson second and Cymro third. There were upwards of 20 entries in this event.

Class 120 for ladies' turnout brought forth some of the classiest entries at the show. The event was won by Mrs. C. Deady's Lochryan Princess, a horse who has won so many first in the evening was to carry off the championship. She beat Mrs. Sifton's Actress who was second and Lady Seafoam who took third.

High Steppers

Following the ladies' turnout came the musical ride by the R. N. W. M. P. and as usual was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The high steppers event which followed resulted in Mrs. Sifton's Actress getting first and Mr. Lambert's Maid getting second. The next event was the Polo ponies, an entirely new event for the show. A beautiful little black horse called Jew took first money and was the popular decision. The ponies were required to make numerous short and quick turns and the rider demonstrated his ability with the polo.

Clifford Sifton's Ravello won first for heavy weight saddle horse and Pride again was second place. Mrs Sifton also drew first for a pair of high steppers. The Clydesdale special was won by A. Ingram and Charles Deady's Paddy Perry took first in the cavalry horse class. These horses were ridden by members of the mounted police, and the winner was a beautiful chestnut gelding.

Five Sifton entries and a couple of others furnished some good high jumping in this event. The prize was a large cup valued at $50. Sunday Morning, Sweet Briar, Cleveland, Edinburst and Ravello were all entered by the Sifton stable and went over the jumps well, but it was left for Ravello to hit the real high spots and he won handily with a jump of about six feet. Following the event the R. N. W. M. P. gave an exhibition of tent pegging, an event which never failed to hold the interest of the large crowd.

The special award for bravery on the big high seas of public opinion at the horse show, was awarded to "The Man With The Straw Hat." This was the "first" straw hat, and the man beneath it walked boldly into the arena and paraded from end to end, calmly and unabashed. Considerable conjecture as to whether it was a new hat or only last summer's hat retrimmed. As this was the first out, the populace of Edmonton have not as yet become educated regarding the prevailing styles. In fact, so great was the impression made by the appearance of this first hat that the occupants of the boxes became faint, and had to be revived with tea of the Y. W. C. A. strongest brew. Even the horses became excited over this first and unheralded sign of spring, one of them bolting and coming within an ace of upsetting all the judges' decisions. Truly it was a momentous occasion, but only one of the many unadvertised attraction of the horse show.

HORSE SHOW NOTES

Smokey, the little black gelding owned by D. P. McDonald of Cochrane, has held the Alberta record for the high jump for some years, but broke his own mark Saturday night by several inches, when he cleared the bar at 6 ft. 10 in. His former record was 6 ft. 3 in. It was nothing altogether too much of the little fellow to jump the next height, 7 ft. 1 1-2 in. Smokey was the idol of the crowd, and loud applause and cheering followed his wonderful leap at 6 ft. 10 in.

Sifton's great little jumper, The Wasp, made the best leaps of the evening and took first money for the event. He has the reputation of being the most consistent jumper of the Sifton string. Confidence, holder of the world's record, was bettered by his traveling mates. Skyscraper and The Wasp. Ironsides went out when he attempted 6 ft. 6 in. Hercules did 6 ft. 10 in. in fine style, but failed at anything over that height.

Jack Lucas' great little hackney, Sir Bantem, made a great hit with the crowd at his every appearance, and although beaten on more than one occasion by bigger horses, Sir Bantem was one of the most popular steeds at the show. He has a great record and has never been beaten previous to the Edmonton show. He took prizes at Olympia and has a great list of wins to his credit in this country as well. He won at Vancouver two years ago and at Calgary last year won over fifteen big horses. $2,000 was the price paid for him when purchased in England.

Mrs C. Deady's Lochryan Princess was a big winner at the show and Saturday night took three classes in a row, thereby winning the Alberta hotel cup valued at $100, won the harness championship, and the special heavy harness horse event, for which he won the $100 cup donated by Robt. McDonald of the Selkirk. She also won the ladies' turnout event in the afternoon.

It was half an hour into Easter Sunday morning before the last event, the high jump was over. This may have been the reason why Smokey refused to try the last big leap over the hurdle. The little fellow stood almost on his nose when he cleared the bar at 6 ft. 10 in., and it was little wonder his rider fell off.

Jack Hambleton is undoubtedly the finest horseman ever seen in Edmonton or the province, and his riding of the Sifton horses was a work of art. He had a particularly busy day of it Saturday, driving and riding in many events. He has been up on the Sifton horses in many countries of Europe and the old country, and it was he who put Confidence over his big leap of 8 ft. 4in. in England.

There were half a dozen entries in the cow horse event Saturday evening, and some of the stunts pulled off were of the dare-devil variety. Morgan, R. E. Wilson's chestnut gelding, who won the event, was the popular choice of the crowd, and besides possessing plenty of style, had the knack of stopping and turning very quickly.

The presence of a large crowd of people in the ring and close to the hurdle was undoubtedly the cause of the fright shown by some of the high jumpers. If there is anything a high strung horse likes more than another, when he is being asked to jump, it is peace and quietness, and everything perfectly still.

The man with "the first straw hat" was present Saturday afternoon, and it will not be quite in order for any or all of us now to don the lighter skypiece. The presence of the "panama" in one of the boxes added a real summery air to the performance.

The next big event at the Exhibition grounds will be the spring race meet on May 22 and following days, and after that the annual exhibition. Its becoming quite a busy place, is Edmonton's fine exhibition grounds, and the motto of the horse show for next year is "bigger and better than ever."

FATHER DENIES THAT MISSING NEW YORK HEIRESS AT HOME

Pittsburg, April 13.—"Dorothy Arnold, the missing New York heiress, came to Pittsburg soon after her disappearance in 1910 and became a patient at the Meredith's private maternity hospital at Bellevue, known as the 'House of Mystery.' Miss Arnold never recovered from her illness and is dying at her home in New York where she has been for the last four months."

That was the positive declaration today of District Attorney R. H. Jackson, who, with Chief of Detectives E. E. Clark and a force of sleuths is prosecuting the case against Meredith and his associates, who are slated for hearing next Tuesday afternoon on charges of malpractice and larceny. He would not say upon what he based his assertion.

New York, April 13.—At the Arnold home here it was denied that Dorothy was there, as alleged by the district attorney at Pittsburg. Her father, Francis R. Arnold, reiterated his belief that his daughter is dead.

He invited reporters to accompany him to his home.

"Come and see for yourself," Arnold said, "you may look over my home and question the servants as to whether my daughter has ever been there since her disappearance."

The reporters searched and found nothing.

Better Class Coming.

Arthur S. Busby, representative of the White Star line at Winnipeg, is visiting Edmonton on business. He states that steamship business from Europe to Canada is heavier than anticipated and that a better class of immigrants are coming to the dominion than ever before, a great proportion being those inclined to agriculture and with experience along that line.

Thought She Would Go Mad WITH HEADACHE.

In all cases of headache the treatment should be directed to remove the cause, for with the cause removed the headache vanishes for all time. Headache powders just relieve for the time being, but what is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all descriptions than Burdock Blood Bitters, acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system.

Mrs. Althea Bowman, Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"I have suffered terribly with my head for weeks at a time till I thought I would go mad. A friend advised me to give Burdock Blood Bitters a trial, so I got a bottle and found relief. I have used four bottles in all and I am glad to say that I have had no more headaches since. I would advise all sufferers to give it a fair trial."

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC DESCRIBED BEST NEW RAILWAY EVER BUILT

The Grand Trunk Pacific is described as the best new railway ever constructed. The route through the Yellowhead pass in the Rocky mountains is an exceptionally favorable one, offering the lowest grades of any transcontinental—four-tenths of one per cent., or 21 feet in the mile, against east-bound traffic, and five-tenths of one per cent., or 26.4 feet in the mile, against west-bound traffic. This means an ability to haul longer and heavier trains than can be accommodated on other transcontinental lines; but to take full advantage of the route, engineering skill of the highest class was required. A grade has therefore been constructed equal to that of most lines after many years of service, and solid steel bridges have been used instead of the timber trestles so often employed. A roadbed eighteen feet wide has been constructed and laid with rails weighing 80 pounds to the yard. Six per cent. is the maximum curvature employed, and even this has been used very sparingly. On the prairie there are tangents as long as 47 miles.

When Prince Rupert, on Kaien island, B.C., was decided on as the Pacific coast terminus of the line, it was apparent that the harbor was a magnificent one, and the company took steps to lay out a townsite that would be worthy of development into a great port. Most careful plans were made to this end, before any lots were placed on sale, which was first done in 1909. Investors all over the world took up lots, and at the same time the population of the town began to grow steadily, helped at first by construction activity and later by the agricultural development of the deep-sea fisheries. The halibut fishing grounds near Prince Rupert are the greatest in the world, and an immense revenue has already been derived therefrom, which will rapidly increase now that rail transportation overland can be offered. Mining, both along the railway and at adjacent points, particularly Granby Bay, where millions of dollars have been invested in a plant for working copper deposits there, has also assisted in the growth of Prince Rupert.

The Grand Trunk Pacific has a fleet of oil-burning steamships, the "Prince Rupert," "Prince George," "Prince Albert," and "Prince John," which give sailings three times a week between Prince Rupert, Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, and which, also connect with adjacent ports on the islands and the mainland. Among Prince Rupert's earliest shipping were steamers from Cape Breton, N. S., which brought Grand Cape Horn the steel for laying the main line.

The Grand Trunk Pacific owns and operates its own sleeping and dining cars, and the construction of a new line gave an opportunity for building cars of the very latest design. Electric lighted trains were an early feature of Grand Trunk Pacific service.

For the accommodation of tourist traffic, the Grand Trunk Pacific has built and opened at Winnipeg "The Fort Garry," and hotels of similar design are now being built at Regina, Edmonton and Prince Rupert. These hotels are all beautiful in architecture and managed to invite comparison with the great hotels of Europe.

East of Winnipeg to Moncton, N. B., the government of Canada has been constructing the National Transcontinental railway, to lease to the Grand Trunk Pacific, and to connect with this line the Grand Trunk Pacific has built a branch from Lake Superior Junction to Fort William, a distance of 189 miles. A grain elevator has been begun at Fort William to accommodate 40,000,000 bushels, and already storage has been constructed for five and three-quarter million. Terminal yards have been planned for future traffic, and already 33 miles of terminal tracks have been laid.

SOUTH SIDE NOTES

Dr. Riddell in Toronto

Dr. Riddell, principal of Alberta college, left on Saturday night for Toronto to attend the meeting of the education board of the Methodist church, and also to attend a meeting of the principals of the educational institutions of Canada. He will be absent about three weeks.

High School Entertainment

A grand entertainment was held Thursday night by the students of Strathcona high school. A series of demonstrations of the student's work in manual training, domestic science, chemistry, physics and typewriting was given before the concert began. A skit, entitled, "Dry Bread and the Poultry Yard" was one of the features of the program, and there were also folk dances, and glee club music, which added very materially to a splendid evening's entertainment. A large crowd was in attendance.

First College Graduate

Norman G. Campbell, the first graduate of Robertson college left Saturday for Killam, Alberta, and was given a royal send-off by his fellow students and friends, who gathered at the station and bombarded him with showers of rice and added much to the demonstration by the loud ringing of numerous cowbells.

South Side Sports

A baseball game on Good Friday afternoon between the Strathcona Athletic association and the students resulted in a win for the former by the score of 13 to 5. The Strathcona Athletic association is a newly formed body and promise to be well represented in all branches of sport this summer. A meeting of this association will be held Tuesday night in the Deveraux hardware store, Whyte avenue.

Lectures Close This Week

The present term at the Alberta Methodist Theological college closes with the lectures this week. The examinations will follow during the next two weeks and the closing exercises will be held during the first week in May.

S. S. Police Court

At the south side police court Saturday, James and John Johnson were fined $1 and $1 costs for being drunk. Helen Saultze was fined $5 and $.85 costs for using insulting and indecent language on the street. J. J. Mellon on a charge of assault causing bodily harm, was remanded for a week. W. H. Johnston charged with false pretenses was again remanded for another week. His name has been on the south side docket for a considerable time.

Much Land Has Been Sold

C. E Shaver, of the natural resources department of the Canadian Pacific railway, is in the city and says that the amount of land which the company has sold through its Edmonton branch during the short time in which it has been opened would surprise one.

IN POLICE CIRCLES

The convention of chief constables will be held in the assembly hall of the Royal Alexandra hotel, Winnipeg, June 23 to 25. It has been arranged that each one of the delegates will come prepared with a short paper on some particular phase of police work.

Two constables have again been detailed for point duty at First street and Jasper avenue and McDougall and Jasper. There have been no men on at this work during the winter months as it has not been deemed necessary, but with the advent of spring it has been found necessary to place men at these points to regulate the traffic.

An important arrest was made last night by Detective Matz, when he captured Bylly Bynzak who is wanted in Calgary on a charge of attempted murder. It is expected that an officer from Calgary will arrive in this city today to take the prisoner back.

There was no police court held this morning the drunks being the only ones who were disposed of by the magistrate.

Alex Taylor, the smallest policeman on the force was the recipient of many congratulations this morning, when it became known among the boys that the stork had paid a visit to his house leaving twins.

Great Opportunities Here.

Among those who called at the office of the city industrial commissioner Saturday were prospective settlers from Michigan, Virginia and California, which three states are pretty well scattered over the union. One man from Virgina had just looked over the Edmonton district and decided that it offered greater opportunities than the commonwealth which is known as "the mother of presidents." He will bring his family here and go into mixed farming.

Kent Club at Home.

The ex-residents of Kent county, Ontario have formed an association known as the "Kent County Klub" which is affiliated with the Western Ontario association. A good time is in store for all Kentites who attend the first "at home" tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Crescent tea rooms, Cattistock block near corner of Fifth street and Jasper avenue.

Railwayman is Injured.

Suffering from a dislocated shoulder and several broken ribs, John Shields was removed to his home in Tayleton ambulance. Shields, who is a car inspector on the C.P.R., was standing on top of a refrigerator car when it was shunted and was thrown to the ground.

Passenger Agent Here.

R. G. McNellie, assistant to the general passenger agent of the C. P. R. in Winnipeg, paid a visit to Edmonton today.

Steamship Arrival.

The Allan liner Hesperian was reported 330 miles east of Cape Race yesterday. Due Halifax this evening.

Had Stomach Rumblings Distress Before Meals

Was Seldom Free From That Weary, Droopy, Half-Dead Feeling.

Now Cured, and Gives Good Advice to Others With Dyspeptic Tendencies.

If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience which is told by Mr. Edward Dawkins:

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Fort Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. Today I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

Refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c. per box or five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or post paid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

IRISH CRISIS IN LONDON COSTLY TO SHOPKEEPER

Society Overshadowed by Politics and Army of Spenders Kept Out of Town.

London, April 13.—The prospect of a general election during either May or June has thrown a damper over what otherwise promised to be an unusually brilliant season. Should such an emergency arise as a result of the Irish question—and it seems extremely probable—the season will be absolutely ruined from a social point of view.

With the country teeming with unrest and uncertainty unavoidable at such a time, and almost every body who counts for anything in the social world, both men and women, away in the country electioneering, it is little wonder that London hotel men and the trades people and the like view the situation with dismay.

King Held in Town

This week has been barren so far as social entertainments are concerned, every one except the politicians being away until after Easter. King George, however, was forced to remain at Buckingham Palace most of the week, although he did manage to travel north for a few hours on a visit to the Earl and Countess of Derby. But his progress had to be considerably curtailed owing to the political exigencies, while the contemplated state visit to Liverpool to see the grand national run was entirely given up.

This caused a great disappointment to the northerners, as both King and Queen had arranged to drive around the full Aintree course, which is four and one-half miles in length, but just before the race, in order that thousands of their subjects might have a glimpse of them.

Americans Entertain Prince

Poor King George seems to be haunted by a hoodoo. For, despite his painfully obvious and extremely unselfish efforts, so far as the public demands upon his time are concerned he is not a "hit" with his people, it is doubtful today whether his popularity is so great as it was before he ascended the throne, and that is not saying much.

Word reached London this week that Prince William of Sweden, whose wife recently caused him some heartburnings, is having a good time in British East Africa, where he is trying to forget his spouse by shooting big game.

He is guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. MacMillan of St. Louis, at Juga farm, their large estate near Nairobi, where they always spend the early months of the year. The MacMillans are expected back in England early in June and are looking for a country place here with good shooting.

Suffragist "Paints" McKenna

There is a good story going around in the social world just now which ought to be true if it isn't. It seems that Home Secretary McKenna, who is responsible for keeping the militant suffragettes in order, recently sat next to a very charming lady at a big society dinner.

When his fair companion noticed that he ate sparingly Mr. McKenna pleaded guilty to having indigestion. The lady insisted that she would send him a remedy, a medical bandage to be worn twelve hours. The bandage duly arrived and was duly worn, but imagine the home secretary's consternation when he found the words "Votes for women" legibly and permanently inscribed upon the sacred part of his anatomy in which the fiend of indigestion usually lives and has its being.

EDMONTON TALKED OF IN EVERY BIG CITY IN STATES

Nat Bell Returns to Town After a Long Trip and Tells About It.

THIS CITY IS NOTED MORE THAN WINNIPEG

Declares That It Is Better Known Now Than Any Other Western Center.

Looking the very picture of health and happiness, Nat Bell, the popular proprietor of the Pendennis hotel, has arrived home after an absence of thirteen weeks in the east and south. Mr. Bell left Edmonton on January 4 and was accompanied by his wife as far as New York and then in company with William Shugarman, also of Edmonton, started on a thirty-four days' cruise of the West Indies, Panama canal and canal zone, visiting as far south as Barbadoes, including in his tour Port Colombia, Jamaica, Cuba and practically all the large islands of the West Indies. At Cuba they were advised not to go ashore, owing to the possibility of quarantine.

One of the points of greatest interest visited by Mr. Bell was the Panama canal. Here he spent three days viewing the wonders of this most gigantic undertaking now about completed. Mr. Bell states that the canal is truly a wonderful achievement and related the fact that before the time of the canal being built that part of the country was so pested with mosquitos that it was practically impossible for anyone to live there, but since the coming of large numbers of people and the work of construction going on, there is not one of the tiny insects left, but this does not altogether make life at Panama real enjoyable, says Mr. Bell, as the terrific heat at all times of the year make it most uncomfortable and almost unbearable for others but the dark natives of that zone.

Voyage Particularly Rough.

Mr. Bell states that the voyage out from New York was particularly rough when he made it, and that he and three others were the only ones on board that were not greatly affected with sea sickness. Nat says he never missed a meal.

The old city of Panama, some ten miles distant from the present city, was visited, as was also St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. Kits, in the West Indies. The city and island of Colon at the eastern end of the canal was also visited, and it was there that Mr. Bell secured two beautiful specimens of parrots, which he brought home with him, although he stated he had an awful time with them on the train, as the pretty green talkers would persist in calling the porter in the middle of the night.

There is only one thing that Nat failed to see, and he is sorry for it, too. That was a real live and exciting bull fight. He states that the life and customs of the people of the canal zone is indeed very slow, and stated a case in point where he entered a bank in Colon to cash a check, but it took the force fully half an hour to get the procedure through with, an item that would take but a minute or two in Canada or the States. The hours of business in the cities he visited down there are from eight in the morning to four in the afternoon, after which hour, he states, it is absolutely impossible to buy even a cigar, as all the men of business will be found out watching a bull fight or playing water polo in the ocean surf.

All Talk of Edmonton,

Mr. Bell visited all the large cities in the United States on his trip and states that Edmonton is the talk of each and every one of them. In Toronto, the east, and in New York, Mr. Bell states Edmonton holds a much more prominent position than does any other western city, not excluding Winnipeg. He says everyone is talking Edmonton, and the mere mention of the name at once brings you into conversation and friendship with many interested people.

In stating that he is glad to get back to Edmonton, Mr. Bell states that he does not mean it in any lasting way, but that from all his travels he is of but one opinion, that Edmonton is the one best city on the continent. So anxious was he to get this fact on Edmonton soil once more, that even his wife could not induce him to stay over a day or two in St. Paul, but he had to make the return journey as fast as the cars could take him. "The south is all right for a trip, and only one of those," says Mr. Bell, "but for a real live, modern, hustling and progressive city give me Edmonton, first, last and always."

SCOVEL, FAMOUS TENOR, AT 70, IS TO WED WIDOW

Chevalier's Prospective Bride is Mrs. Rushton Field, an American.

Paris, April 13.—The only romantic the Riviera has produced this season is the engagement announced this week of Chevalier Edward Scovel, the great tenor, to Mrs. Rushton Holmes Field, both of whom are over seventy years of age. The couple will be married shortly and settle themselves in an ivy-covered house in Villa Spontini, Paris.

A few months ago they were total strangers to one another, but at Rubi's Hotel in Nice recently, while Mrs. Field was taking tea with General Corliss, her eyes met those of Scovel, and thereafter wherever she went she seemed to encounter the tenor.

A week later they had become engaged. The romance has greatly strengthened Mrs. Field in her belief in the attraction of unseen forces. She is already originally resided in Mansfield, O., but moved to Wheeling, W. Va., where her grandfather started the first iron foundry.

Chevalier Scovel is known throughout Europe as "the hatless man." He is also famous for his picturesque waistcoats, the colors of which rival those of King Alfonso. He was born in Detroit, his father being Dr. Brigham Scovel. Besides being a noted tenor he was the beau of the Italian social world, where he made his musical debut with Lillian Nordica.

His son, Frederick Roosevelt Scovel, who lives in Washington, married Vivien Sartoria, niece of General Grant. Chevalier Scovel is also the uncle of the late Sylvester Scovel, war correspondent, who slapped the face of General Shafter in the Cuban war.

His Head an "Obstacle."

St. Petersburg, April 13.—For "placing an obstacle on the rail, thereby causing the train to stop," a peasant of Nijni Novgorod was fined $5. He was trying to commit suicide. The obstacle was his own head.

MANY BRANCH LINES NOW READY TO FEED GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

With the approaching completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway's main line, the preparations that have been made to feed the main artery with a series of branch lines are of particular interest. When in 1903 the Canadian government and the Grand Trunk Pacific railway entered into an agreement for the construction and operation of a railway across Canada from Atlantic to the Pacific, the necessity of these branch lines was kept in view and in 1906 a subsidiary company was incorporated under the name of the Grand Trunk Pacific Lines company, with the capital stock of $50,000,000. This company was authorized to construct branch lines through fertile sections of the country, with an aggregate total mileage of about 7,500 miles.

An early start was made on the construction of these branches and already, west of Winnipeg, about 1,200 miles of subsidiary lines have been completed, while arrangements have been made between the various provincial governments and the railway for the construction in the near future of many hundreds of miles of additional branch lines.

That the Grand Trunk Pacific has the strongest belief in its revenue earning power is seen in the preparations that have been made for handling traffic in the future. It has erected along its route over 300 elevators at various points which will in the near future be grain producing centers. These are built in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Its chain of hotels and terminals is rapidly being brought to completion to attend to the wants of its tourist traffic. Thus, even, before its main line is completed it is making every preparation for the traffic that is bound to come its way.

HOLDS PRISONER MRS. GOURAUD

New York Woman a Captive Three Days on Desert; Freed by Charm of Buddha.

Paris, April 13.—Miss Jackson Gouraud of New York returned to Paris this week after her search for the "quintessence of happiness" in a North African desert. She found perfect content there, but at the same time she came perilously near losing her life.

When she threaded her way across the sandy wastes it was also with the object of persuading some chiefs of the Dervish tribe to come to Paris to figure in her free $5,000 prize fete, but when she was several days beyond the reach of civilization her native convoy mutinied.

She steadfastly refused to pay them the extortionate sum they now demanded to proceed further and they departed, leaving her alone with her native interpreter without protection from the semi-savage marauders.

Mrs. Gouraud next fell into the hands of a small band of which the chief was a powerful dervish named Sango Tomo and was held a prisoner three days. She attributes her eventual liberation to a charm representing Buddha, which was stolen from a Hindu temple in the Indian hills many years ago. This charm she has worn around her neck since she was a girl. On the fourth day Sango Tomo espied the charm and immediately salaamed profoundly.

When she perceived the unexpected effect of her mascot, Mrs. Gouraud pointed to a number of snakes tattooed on her forearm. The muscular dervish hastily spread a carpet on the earth and kneeling down bowed his forehead to the ground. Within an hour the American captive was not only released but also provided with an escort to the nearest center of civilization.

Mrs. Gouraud brought back to Paris a number of quaint desert costumes. Half a dozen young alligators are on the way and will be kept in the zoological gardens until the night of her desert fete.

She told the correspondent she had received stacks of letters in reply to her offer of a second $5,000 prize for a novel idea for her entertainment made through the Hearst papers, but so far she had not found any suggestion worthy of the prize. One letter several thousand words long outlined an airship fete.

A number of suggestions came from Harvard and Yale men, but every state in the union and every class are represented in the replies. One young girl living in the West suggested that Mrs. Gouraud dismiss all her servants, buy a cotton frock and start life anew in Oklahoma.

Springfield, Mass., has scarlet fever epidemic following "Go to Church Sunday."

EDUCATING MEN TO BECOME NON-PRODUCERS

Blue Books, as a general rule, are not very exciting literature. But Volume 11 of Part III. of the report of the royal commission on technical education conveys to anyone who cares to glance through it some idea of how far behind in the matter of education is this Dominion of Canada of ours in which we all flatter ourselves that we take an exemplary pride.

Therein will be found set out for the reader in photo, table and prose some simple record of the achievements of technical training in such cities as Cologne, Zurich and Winterthur, where high schools of technical training larger than our largest university equip the European scholar with a knowledge of the most intricate applied sciences of industry and turn him into the world with an adeptness of hand and brain which guarantees his usefulness and insures the country of a continuous benefit from his training. Following the Europeans, the several states in United States are taknig up vocational training and for the first time in the history of this country the young men of several large cities and states, such as Lowell, Buffalo, Boston, New York and West Lynn are being given an opportunity to learn what the usefulness is of the arithmetic, geometry, algebra, chemistry and physics which it has been the common lot of every student in the public school to puzzle his brain over while at the same time adding to his youthful perplexity this other great mystery of what all this stuff was about anyway.

Canada is now about to inaugurate an attempt along the same line, and it was for the purpose of gathering information as to what has been accomplished in other countries that the commission on technical education went abroad.

This much the commission has found out, or at least the compilation of the information they have gathered makes plain, that in this Dominion of Canada there is a tragic waste of men. The evidences of it are on every hand. Magazine and newspapers team with the treatises of the theorists upon conservation. The world acknowledges on every hand the valuable service rendered by the man who can make 30 bushels grow where but 10 grew before. But how about the man who might be rendering service for which he would receive $30 a week and who is able to earn only $10? In 99 cases out of 100 the willingness of the man is not the determining factor. The natural tendency of the human animal is to strive to better his condition. Edmonton saw this last winter when three or four hundred men, maligned for their poverty, grasped the first axe offered and went out into the bitter cold in the scantest of clothing for the meagre opportunity of earning two meals a day. The brutal carpings of the jaundiced ones to the contrary, there is no such thing as a wilfully out of work class, nor a wilful wop. But there is the ever present question of efficiency. The penalty is levied against ignorance. And the more inefficient the greater percentage of the surplus value the hireling is compelled to give up. The unemployed who year after year form a complex winter problem in our cities include those able to work but unable to find work, and those unfit to do work of appreciable value because they have never been properly trained. Both groups must be tided over. The first soon rights itself. The second forms a dead weight which must be carried by society. The cost of failure to educate is greater to society than the cost of education to the state.

Canada is just now commencing to see this, although many European countries have had a complete grasp of the fact for a quarter of a century. Canada is awakening to a realization that an edcational system which turns the boy loose on the world with nothing but a conglomoration of elemental studies with no attempt to give them aplication in the way of training him to render a useful service has committed a crime against the boy and levied a high cost against society. Alberta has probably gone farther along the way by the establishment of her farm schools wherein students may learn how much different the science of agriculture and husbandry is from the rude practise which from time immemorial has been miscalled farming than has any other province.

But the time must come in Canada when, under the auspices of the state, the student who desires to know how to do anything useful may learn, and this must be made to apply to the grown as well as to the youths of the land.

A good start would be to burn the classical, theological text books of about half the universities of the country on the campus and instal instead a new training which would equip the graduate with the knowledge of how to produce something.

Canada is spending altogether too much money educating men to become non-producers.

MAKE THE ORIENTAL RESTRICTION COMPLETE.

The brutal and revolting murder of a Vancouver woman by a Chinese boy servant has so aroused the race sentiment in Vancouver that the local authorities have found it advisable to protect the Oriental children from possible violence by children of the white race attending the same schools, and have segregated the Chinese.

Such an outcome of a single crime will be sufficient to impress upon those who are not familiar with conditions on the Coast the depth of the feeling of hostility which, however quiescent it may seem normally, is always existent and will continue to exist so long as the Orientals continue to flood in. This feeling of hostility, as the present incident shows, may break out at almost any time.

In bringing in from Asia people of other races Canada is borrowing a great deal of unnecessary trouble, and a kindness would be done quite as much to the Hindoos and Chinese who are being brought to British Columbia as to the white men who are already there if a restriction were placed against Asiatic immigration which would be complete. The Coast pople themselves have realized this for years, asking for an exclusion measure which would exclude, but members on both sides of the house at the federal capital have been invariably led away by a sentimentalism which has been predicated upon the belief that in some way some great injury was to be inflicted upon those subjects of foreign countries or distant dominions who were being debarred.

THE FRANCHISE VALUE OF A STREET RAILWAY

In discussing the forty-year franchise which the Montreal Tramways Co. is asking from the city of Montreal, and which it will probably get, having, with the assistance of Hugh Graham and his conservative papers, succeeded in electing the tramways ticket, Duncan MacDonald, former manager of the Montreal street railway, declared that the probable profits to be derived from such a franchise would aggregate not less than four hundred million dollars during the life of the agreement.

The figures look staggering. But MacDonald knows whereof he speaks and his calculation is made from a basis of present earnings per population, allowing for a slight increase of rides per capita, and allowing for a proportionate increase in population. He shows that the Montreal street railway in 1893 earned $750,757 gross, while in 1913 its gros earnings had risen to $6,754,277. The total gross earnings for that period were $55,955,354, and the net earnings totalled $23,129,425.

From these figures and from MacDonald's estimates, Edmonton citizens may gather some appreciation of the value which is likely to attach to the Edmonton street railway franchise in the next two or three decades.

Edmontonian Mediaevalism and Modern Science.

To the Editor of the Capital:

If there is one process that is indelibly impressed upon the mind of the student of natural science it is the universality of the process of decay. The astronomer tells him of the birth, growth and decay of stellar and solar cosmogonies in an unlimited universe. He likewise reminds him of the physical condition of the solar system to which the earth he now lives upon belongs. The various processes of decay are explained by reference to our sun, earth and moon. He learns that the sun is in the first stage of evolution, the earth in the middle stage, sufficiently cooled to permit of the growth of organic life, and the moon is in the last stage of evolution, cold, silent and barren. Reasoning from these observations, he predicts with a high degree of relative truth the final destiny of the little speck of cosmic dust which so many thousands of his fellow creatures, owing to a false education, believe to be the center of the universe.

When he proceeds with his studies of natural science upon our planet, he meets at every turn the great processes of universal decay. In geology he perceives the great result produced upon land areas by the process of denudation and disintegration and the far-reaching effects of fluvitaile erosion. In palaeontology, he learns from the fossils unearthed from the rocks of the immense and varied wealth of life that has lived upon this earth prior to the growth and evolutionary development of the human race. Throughout the entire history of organic life he is impressed with the continual processes of change and decay. When he turns to the study of his own species he learns in sociology of the birth, growth and decay of many customs and habits among tribes and nations. He finds the industrial history of the human race divided into various epochs according to the tools by which man obtained his means of subsistence. Thus we have the palaeolithic and neolithic periods of the Stone age, and the decadence of these gives birth to the development and decay of the Bronze age, which was followed by the Iron age, beyond it. The existence of a thing is only possible in as far as it manifests itself. Absolute existence without a manifestation is non-existence, a contradiction in terms. This thought lies at the base of the Hegelian paradox—existence and non-existence are identical." To our ignorance of the inherence of Force in Matter, Herbert Spencer in his Synthetic philosophy postulated the Unknowable. Modern philosophy rejected this appellation and replaced it with the more correct phrase, the Unknown. Not by shelving our difficulties, relegating them to an Unknowable, but by honest and incorrigible progress in the paths of rational truth and unselfish duty will the battle be won and humanity be made happier and wiser. Science will not quit her citadel for the fat plains of human sentiment and ignorance, where, in bovine placidity, the parson and the preacher class have for centuries thriven and grown fat. And yet here, in a modern, progressive city like Edmonton, the various religious hierarchies are striving desperately to gain dominant hold upon the town, and are doing their utmost to prevent the great tolling, moiling mass of humanity from enjoying its legal seventh day holiday, in order to coerce them into attending their temples of medieaval superstition, and in doing so have appealed to that too ready instrument of coercion, viz., the modern state.

Cure Children's Colds By External Treatment

Mothers Will Find Nothing so Speedy and Reliable as Old-Time "Nerviline."

It's really a shame to upset a young child's stomach by internal dosing, when external treatment will so promptly break up a cold.

When your boy comes in after play with his feet soaking wet, his throat hoarse and sore, his little chest tight and congested, just apply Nerviline. Give him a vigorous rubbing over his throat, and put lots of Nerviline on his chest and rub it right in. To make Nerviline penetrate more quickly cover his chest and throat with a hot flannel bandage. This treatment WON'T fail. Your boy will be feeling better in half an hour, and you will have the satisfaction of knowing you have warded off perhaps a cold, or grippe, or illness that might have laid him up.

Nerviline is mighty good for preventing colds and for breaking up a bad one, too. For general family use it cures all sorts of external aches and pains—you simply can't beat it. Try it for earache, toothache, neuralgia, sciatica, lame back, rheumatism, or lumbago. Wherever there is congestion, inflammation or pain in the joints or muscles Nerviline will cure mighty quick. The large 50c family size bottle is an economical, so useful, it should be in every home. There is also a small 25c size. Dealers anywhere sell Nerviline.

own, and all passing through the various processes of birth, growth and decay.

Hence we realize in our philosophical views of the universe that any power acting upon and controlling that universe must be "Absolute" and Unconditioned. As to the existence of that Absolute and Unconditioned Power, we have no evidence and no proof, and all the statements of our parsons and preachers to the contrary are childish puerilities belonging to a superstitious age rapidly passing away. We, the members of the human race, subject to the law of the Conditioned and Finite, cannot possibly have any conception of the Absolute and Unconditioned. Matter and Force in the various stages of evolution are the only fields of investigation open to the scientist. Buchner in his treatise on Force and Matter has put the position of modern science in a clear, lucid light. "Nature is knowable," he says; "its very essence is cognoscibility. There is no extra or supernatural existence beyond it. The existence of a thing is only possible in as far as it manifests itself. Absolute existence without a manifestation is non-existence, a contradiction in terms. This thought lies at the base of the Hegelian paradox—existence and non-existence are identical." To our ignorance of the inherence of Force in Matter, Herbert Spencer in his Synthetic philosophy postulated the Unknowable. Modern philosophy rejected this appellation and replaced it with the more correct phrase, the Unknown. Not by shelving our difficulties, relegating them to an Unknowable, but by honest and incorrigible progress in the paths of rational truth and unselfish duty will the battle be won and humanity be made happier and wiser. Science will not quit her citadel for the fat plains of human sentiment and ignorance, where, in bovine placidity, the parson and the preacher class have for centuries thriven and grown fat. TODAY WE CELEBRATE

Jefferson's Birthday to Be Widely Celebrated Today

Today the democratic party of the United States will present a solid front to "the enemy." Yesterday there was division in the ranks, and tomorrow the discussion of differences of opinion as to party policies and principles will be resumed, but this is the day dedicated to party peace and union, when Hearst and Tammany Hall, Wilson and Champ Clark, hod-carrier and multi-millionaire, drink from the same loving cup a toast to the memory of Thomas Jefferson, great hero of American democracy, who was born at Shadwell, Va., 171 years ago today. In one state, Alabama, Jefferson's birthday is a legal holiday, but in all others the anniversary is observed with banquets and oratory.

With the passing of the years the reverence in which Jefferson is held by the American people at large, as well as by the democratic party, has increased rather than diminished. There have been iconoclasts who have sought to prove—and have built up a very fair case—that Thomas Paine wrote the declaration of independence popularly attributed to Thomas Jefferson, and other idol-breakers have sought to show that "Jefferson simplicity" was a myth, and that Jefferson really lived the life of an aristocrat. It is doubtless true that the great advocate of equality was a man of somewhat luxurious habits, that he lived in a splendid house that was almost a mansion, that he was surrounded by servants and slaves, that he ate the best food from the finest china and silverware, that he owned thoroughbred horses, costly furniture and many rare paintings and statues. There can be no denial of this. But simplicity and democracy are qualities of the mind and heart, and they can be held and practiced by kings in their palaces as well as by peasants in their huts.

TODAY IN DOMINION HISTORY.

Sir John Christian Schultz, one of the ablest of the pioneers in the development of Manitoba, died in Winnipeg eighteen years ago today. A native of Ontario, he adopted the profession of medicine, and upon receiving his degree began practice in the frontier village of Winnipeg. He also engaged in the fur trade, and traveled widely over the west making many important contributions to scientific knowledge of the soil, climate, flora and fauna of the country. When Riel began his first rebellion in 1869, Dr. Schultz organized a body of half-armed troops to oppose the half-breeds. After a gallant resistance, Dr. Schultz and his men were forced to surrender to the rebels and were imprisoned at Fort Garry. The young physician was sentenced to death, but, although wounded in the leg, he managed, with the aid of a smuggled file and through the assistance of a sick wife, to escape his captors. Later Dr. Schultz made his way on snowshoes and on foot over the long stretch of wilderness to Duluth, Minn., and from there he traveled by train to eastern Canada, where he aroused the people and government to the necessity of immediate action in suppressing the insurrection. The story of Schultz's narrow escape from death at the hands of the rebels and his long tramp across the solitude with starvation as his companion is one of the most thrilling in the history of the conquest of the west. After the rebellion had been suppressed, Dr. Schultz was elected to the Dominion Parliament from Lisgar, serving in that body from 1871 to 1882, when he was appointed to the senate. In 1888 he became Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and held that position until shortly before his death at Winnipeg, April 13, 1896.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Woolworth, Builder of World's Highest Skyscraper, 62 Today.

Watertown, N. Y., isn't a metropolis, as cities go, but it is entitled to fame as the birthplace of two of the greatest business concerns in America. It was in Watertown that Frank W. Woolworth opened the first of his five-cent stores, and, on a borrowed capital of $300, started a business out of the profits of which he has built in New York the world's highest skyscraper, the 55 story Woolworth building, a colossal edifice which is the architectural wonder of the modern world. And it was in Watertown years later that George J. Whelan, a Syracuse cigar dealer, opened his first branch store, and laid the foundation for a chain of cigar stores that now covers the United States, and which does an annual business of $40,000,000 a year. Both of these big successes were based on original selling plans, together with a recognition of the true value of humble nickels and lowly dimes. Woolworth and Whelan each began early to learn that those little coins, added and combined and accumulated in sufficient quantities, had in them the "makings" of a fortune. Everybody else in those days pursued dollars—Woodworth and Whelan went after the minted "chickenfeed."

Frank W. Woolworth, who has built for himself the highest monument in the world, was born at Rodman, N. Y., 62 years ago today. He was a mere boy when he opened his first little five-cent store in Watertown. It was a failure and was soon abandoned. Another store, at York, was also unsuccessful. One of the secrets of his success, Mr. Woolworth has often declared, is that he knew when he was defeated. Whenever a store failed to make good within a reasonable time, it was closed, and another situation was sought. Mr. Woolworth, in the course of a few years, learned to judge accurately as to the cities and locations that would support a cheap merchandise store. He seldom made mistakes, but the few were promptly buried.

The Woolworth stores in America and England now number nearly 200, and the company also controls numerous factories and warehouses, as well as the gigantic office building in New York. The towering broadway edifice cost $13,000,000, and the owner paid for the construction as it proceeded, with the result that when it was completed it was Mr. Woolworth's exclusive property from its apex 750 feet above Broadway down to its nethermost sub-basement, without a mortgage or an indebtedness of any kind.

Whether the "chain store" system of merchandising is to be commended or condemned is another matter. In any event, it is here, and the towering Woolworth building is a sufficient proof that it is successful, from the viewpoint of the originators of that system of selling.

TERRIBLY AFFLICTED WITH LAME BACK.

Could Not Sweep The Floor.

When the back aches and pains it is almost impossible for women to do their housework, for every move and every turn means an ache or a pain.

Women are beginning to understand that weak, lame, and aching backs from which they suffer so much are due to wrong action of the kidneys, and should be attended to at once so as to avoid years of suffering from kidney trouble.

On the first sign of anything wrong with the back Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken.

They go right to the seat of the trouble.

Mrs. Wilfrid Jolicoeur, Nouvelle, Que., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing you stating the benefit I have received by using Doan's Kidney Pills. About three years ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back, and was so bad I could not sweep my own floor. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I only used three boxes, and I am as well as ever. I highly recommend these pills to any sufferer from lame back or kidney trouble."

Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

FIRST THINGS

Handel.

The first oratorio of George Frederick Handel, greatest of all composers of that style of music drama, was given its initial performance 210 years ago today, when Handel was in his twentieth year. This oratorio was based on the Passion, and was a work of considerable merit, although not as great as his subsequent oratorios. "Saul," "Messiah," "Samson," "Israel in Egypt," "Solomon," "Judas Maccabaeus," and "Japhthah" Handel early in the age of seven he was placed under developed a pasion for music, and at the tuition of Zachau, organist of the Halle Cathedral His first opera, "Almira," was composed when he was still in his 'teens. Although his operas were successful, it was by his oratorios that he obtained his enduring fame, and his "Messiah" is considered by most musicians to be the sublimest work of its kind ever composed. Handel lost his eyesight some years before his death, but continued to perform in public and even to compose. He died in London 155 years ago today, on the anniversary of the first public performance of his initial oratorio, and was buried in Westminster Abbey.

DESPERATE MEN REFUSE TO STOP; EXCITING CHASE

Police Car Follows Alleged Thieves for Eight Miles Before Overhauling Them—States Miraculous That No Accident Happened as Many People Were Missed by Inches.

With heads bent and clinging to the madly racing car Detectives Lancey and Coleman last night chased alleged auto thieves along the Fort trail for several miles, eventually catching their men who now lie in the cells awaiting trial.

According to spectators who got a momentary glance of the speeding machines it was some race. The pursued ones got a start of about a mile. They were in a big Cadillac and the man at the wheel did not hesitate to let it out. For seven miles both cars whizzed past pedestrians, other autos and vehicles at a pace that made onlookers gasp and run for shelter. Slowly the police car made headway and began to overhaul the stolen car. The excitement became intense. There were many people on the road taking advantage of the beautiful weather for a Sunday night walk or drive, and according to one of the detectives it was a miracle that some one is not dead as a result of the race, for people were missed by inches by the auto drive by the desperate fleers from justice.

When about seven miles from the city there were only a few hundred yards separating the two cars. The demands of the minons of the law that the alleged thieves should stop were either unheard of unheeded for the leading car seemed to get a new lease of life and for another mile the pursuers got no nearer their quarry.

It was the long hill about eight miles from the city that did the trick. The little police Ford shot up the incline without slackening pace, but it proved too much for the Cadillac and by the time the summit was reached both autos were abreast.

Lancy jumped up from his seat and pointing his shooting iron at the man at the wheel, shouted: "Stop that car, or I will stop you."

There was no response. The driver grimly held on and never slackened pace for an instant. The hill was almost negotiated and he probably thought that once the heavy car started down the incline that the extra weight of the Cadillac would stand in good stead in making a getaway.

Things were getting desperate. The detectives were at their wits' end as to what to do. They were afraid to fire for they thought they would scare their men so badly that an accident would result. Lancy took a desperate chance and won out. While the cars were racing at a speed approaching sixty miles an hour he jumped from the police auto and landed beside the driver of the Cadillac. In language more expressive than polite he then demand that "steam" be shut off. Seeing that the game was up the alleged thieves gave themselves up and the little party returned to the police station, but not quite so quickly as they went out.

The stolen car belongs to James Baquette of Penth street, who reported last night that he had seen two men taking his auto and described how they were dressed nd the way they went.

The names of the man arrested are Arthur Mitchell and Wildred Stephenson.

FOUR GUNMEN ARE FLASHED TO DEATH IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Sing Sing Prison, Ossining, N.Y., April 13.—The four gunmen convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal died in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison at the break of day this Easter Monday morning. No one confessed his guilt, and no one mentioned the name of Charles Becker, the former police lieutenant, found guilty of instigating the murder, but saved by the court of appeals reversal.

Of the four who died, Frank Seidenshner ("Whitey Lewis") made the only statement. Even he did not flatly assert his innocence.

"Gentlemen," he mumbled, as they strapped him in the chair, "I did not shoot at Rosenthal. The man who said I did was a perjurer. For the sake of justice, gentlemen, I say I didn't. The witness Stanhlen—"

"Whitey" did not finish the sentence. The harness had been adjusted and the current shot his body forward in the chair.

He had meant to say that Stannish, a waiter and a witness at the murder trial had lied, but death intervened. Seidenshner was the second man to die. "Dago Frank" (Frank Cirofici) came first. "Gyp the Blood" (Harry Horowitz) was the third and "Lefty Louie" (Louis Rosenburg) last.

In forty minutes all four were despatched and the current shot.

This time would have been shortened had it not been for the overcrowding of newspaper reporters. Their numbers necessitated a shifting of witnesses for each execution.

There was not an untoward incident throughout the proceedings. All walked to the chair, and only their quaking knees and the sickly green pallor of their faces attested that the realization of death was upon them.

William E. Cashin, Roman Catholic chaplain of the prison, accompanied "Dago Frank" to the chair. With "Whitey Lewis" and "Gyp the Blood" was Rabbi Joseph Goldstein of New York. Rabbi Mayer Kopfstein, long the spiritual adviser of the Rosenburg family, stood by Lefty Louie.

Priest and Rabbi alike averted their drawn faces from the chair of death, struggling to control themselves as they intoned a prayer for the dying.

"Gentlemen," said Rabbi Goldstein as he left the death chamber, "If you ask me whether the Jewish boys were guilty, I will say I do not know. They did not confess to me. As for the Italian, I do not believe he was at the scene of the crime. I do not think any of them should have been convicted on the testimony offered."

EDMONTON LIVES UP TO THE REPUTATION OF "SUNNY ALBERTA"

Edmonton has lived up well to its title as the capital city of "Sunny Alberta" during the fall of 1913 and the winter of 1914. Some rather surprising facts are to be gathered from the weather office statistics for the last six months.

From figures compiled from the records carefully kept by S. M. Holmden, at the Dominion Meterological Station in the west end, it appears that Edmonton was favored with sunshine on 147 days out of 179 days from the autumnal equinox on September 23 to the spring equinox on March 21. Only 32 days out of the whole six months could be described as cloudy. The sun shone on 25 days during November and 25 days during December and fog was recorded on only two days out of the 179. In the period under review the number of hours of bright sunshine recorded was 682.9 and the daily average was four hours.

The total precipitation in the six months was equal to 3.08 inches of rain, ten inches of snow, approximately, corresponding to one inch of rain. Rain fell on six days and snow on 36 days during the six months. Most of the snow came in January and February.

February was the windiest, the snowiest and also the coldest month. On one occasion during that month the wind attained a rate of 24 miles per hour, whereas the average velocity of the wind during the whole six months was only 5.5 miles per hour. Edmonton calm, therefore be styled a windy city. The thermometer did not go to zero except in the months of December, January and February.

The lowest temperature recorded were: December 12 below zero; January 29 below, and February 26 below. The latter was the absolute minimum registered during the winter. Only on 12 days did the thermometer remain below zero all day.

While the winter provided some cold days it also provided many mild days. A somewhat remarkable vagary of the weather occurred in December when the thermometer rose to 60—the highest temperature that has been recorded in Edmonton for the month of December.

SAYS CANADA WOULD ASSIST ULSTER IF CIVIL WAR STARTED

London, April 13.—The Canadian correspondent of the Times, under the heading, "Canada and Home Rule; The Orange Order in Politics," reviewing the attitude of the Orange order in Canadian politics declares that Canadian Orangemen on vital issues put principles before party.

He asserts that there is intense feeling in Toronto "Canada's Belfast" over the present situation and states that 25,000 men are, or were, actively identified with the Orange association. In the last few years there have been many recruits to the Ontario lodges which are influential in public affairs. The organization of Ulster leagues in Ontario proceeds with much secrecy and no little energy and there is no doubt that in the event of civil war Ulster would be materially assisted from Canada.

CHILDREN'S SHELTER LOOKS AFTER MANY DELINQUENT ONES

A large number were discharged and there were 29 infants received attention.

SAYING HE KILLED MAN CAUSED WILKIE BARREL OF TROUBLE

After having spent about 10 weeks in the cell at the city police station, Duncan Wilkie was released on Saturday morning. The story of Wilkie's imprisonment dates back to last November when he stated to his landlady one morning that he was wanted in the States for killing a man, thinking that he should not be at large, the lady got into communication with the police and had the man arrested. A wire was sent to Wilkie's former home to inquire whether it was true that he had killed a man. An answer was wired back which stated that so far as was known he was not wanted on this charge, but warning the police to keep an eye on him as he had a bad record.

He was then sentenced to a short term in the jail on a charge of vagrancy and shortly after he had completed that term he was re-arrested on a charge of being an undesirable and steps were taken to have him deported. Every few days he would be brought up in the police court before the magistrate but always with the same result—"Wilkie, your papers have not arrived yet," and he would be led downstairs again. Frequenters of the police court came to look upon him as a part and parcel of the court. On Saturday when he appeared for the last time before Magistrate Massie he was told that he was free but that he would have to leave town inside of two days or else he would be arrested again and charged as a vagrant.

CROWD OF HUNDRED THOUSAND WITNESSES DOUBLE AIR TRAGEDY

Vienna, April 13.—Before 100,000 spectators there occurred yesterday at the aerodrome at Aspern, a village five miles outside the city, a shocking double tragedy, when Aviator Bourhuiso attempted to descend from an aeroplane in a parachute.

After Baron Pasquiert had successfully looped the loop an aviator named Remoine started up with Bourhuisso, who at a height of 1200 feet, left the biplane, clinging to a parachute, which instantly tore to pieces. Bourhuisso fell like a stone, while the aeroplane, relieved suddenly of his weight, appeared to get out of Remoine's control and came hurling to the ground amid the horrified spectators.

Both aviators were mortally injured. Bourhuisso in his delirum laughed like a mad man.

Canadian Flour Prospects

H. Skott, a big commission merchant of Hong Kong, China, is in Edmonton on his way from the Orient to Copenhagen, Denmark. Asked as to the prospects for Canadian flour and wheat in the countries of the yellow races, Mr. Skott stated to the Capital that in time it would prove of great value, but it was hard to educate the Chinese to the use of wheat flour instead of rice as their stable food. Even yet they do not make bread out of white flour, but use it considerably for cakes and pastry. He predicted that Vancouver and Prince Rupert would become great milling and exporting centers.

ARRESTS "LUNATIC" GETS SLAMMED IN "BEAN" FOR TROUBLE

A man who refused to give his name was arrested last night outside the police station on Fraser avenue. He was being conducted to the station by Dr. Douglas of the Robinson block, as the medico was of the impression that the man was insane. Just as the doctor got his man opposite the police station he was violently struck on the nose by the supposed lunatic, causing that member to bleed freely. Sergeant Irvine who was in charge of the station at the time rushed out to the doctor's assistance and succeeded in placing the man in the cells.

WRIGHT AND DIETRICH AT EMPIRE THEATER FULLY UP-TO-DATE

Two entertainers who may be depended upon to provide amusement of a thoroughly up-to-date type are Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, who come to the Empire theater this afternoon as features of the Orpheum vaudeville bill.

Mr. Wright possesses a tenor voice of pure tone, splendid range and quality. Miss Dietrich is a soprano of equal attainments. Together they sing combination of operatic and popular melodies which may be relied upon for their appeal, while those well versed in music will realize that two such voices are seldom heard on other than the operatic stage. Mr. Wright and Miss Dietrich have only just returned from abroad, where their singing attracted unusual attention. In America they are well known vaudevillians, and previous to their embarking upon their present voyage, they were successful in musical comedy. For one season they were conspicuous in Fritzi's Scheff's support.

LYCEUM PLAYERS TO PRESENT THIS WEEK THE GREAT "CAMILLE"

Starting with the regular Monday night performance the Lyceum players will present this week Alexander Dumas, the younger's masterpiece, "Camille," play and book which ranks with "Sapho" as the most popular of all modern plays and books.

"Camille" will be presented in a form never before attempted by any manager. Stage Director Harry Correll, of the Lyceum has taken the three best stage versions of "Camille" extent, those of Olga Nethersole, Madame Sarah Bernhard and Madame Hoffman, the great German actress, and from these three versions has molded a play that for general appeal is the equal of any play of modern times.

Added features of "Camille" this week will be the playing by the orchestra of Tosti's "Good-Bye" song during the entire first act and the Tango danced by Tryna Saindon and Miner Reed during the action of the fourth act.

During the congratulations Mr. R. A. Holmes sang delightful "Beloved it is Morn."

Mrs. F. A. Saunders received the guests wearing a smart toilette of grey silk voile with white silk shadow lace, with girdle and sash of mauve velvet.

Easter flowers in profusion, with ferns and foliage were the attractive decorations throughout.

In the dining room 14 relatives sat down to the brides table, which was centered by a large wedding cake, and tastefully decorated with wide satin ribbons, flowers and ferns. Rev. Dr. Armstrong, proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded by the groom in most pleasing manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard are taking a wedding trip to the east, and will make Edmonton their permanent home.

Among those present at the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Philp, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stutchbury, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Lane, (Bruderheim), Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sporle, Mr. and Mrs. B. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McIntyre, Rev. and Mrs. Armstrong, Miss Duncan, Miss Waterman, Miss M. Cowan, Miss J. A. Moses, Mr. Roy Foster and Mr. R. A. Holmes.

EYE-OPENING SKETCH HEADLINES GOOD BILL AT PANTAGES THEATER

Bearing the endorsation of many of the leading charity workers and chiefs of police from some of the larger cities of the states "The Truth" comes to Pantages this week as the topmost feature on their program. The playlet is a vivid and courageous portrayal of the social system as it was arraigned before the Illinois State commission some few months back. It is a frank report of conditions which existed at the time and which since have been righted, proving that the commission did much more good than was ever expected of it. Conditions under which men and women worked and the police methods of espionage form the greatest part of the dramatic story which will be presented by a capable cast of 15 people lead by Harold Holland. It can be safely said that there is nothing in the sketch at which any one who looks upon life with a true unwarped view could cavil. Only things as they do exist are exposed and for this reason the playlet has been a tremendous sensation.

"The Happy Chappie and His English Friend," is the title of a skit which Clayton and Lennie offer and which is filled with timely humor and topical jests while between dancing and singing Bob Finlay and the Yates Sisters will fill up a fifteen minute space on the bill. The Gargomis, a quintette of sensational acrobats present a routine of dangerous tumbles and somersaults both on the ground and in mid air which is somewhat away from the average acrobatic offering and the cycling Brunettes with a number of daring gyrations on bicyles will open the bill.

BIJOU MANAGEMENT SECURES NEW SERIAL THAT WILL PLEASE

The Bijou offers for today and tomorrow the first of a set of films that will run for some few weeks as a serial, under the title of "The Adventures of a Diplomatic Free Lance" taken from the Blue Book magazine and adapted to motion pictures by Lloyd F. Lonergan, perhaps the best known and ablest scenario author writing for pictures. "A Leak in the Foreign Office" is the name of the first chapter of this most interesting film subject. It deals with life, the intrigues, and intricacies of the diplomatic channels of the modern powers.

Few subjects can offer more favorable opportunities for excellent photoplays. The action is rapid, the situations usually work up to an intense climax, and then the air of the mysterious always shrouds the diplomatic departments of the nations when big things are moving. It was the existence of these splendid basic elements that introduced the first of the "Free Lance" stories and since then they have ran almost continuously for five years in the Blue Book magazine and have met with favor.

A Keystone comedy will also be exhibited for this program. To the most of the Bijou patrons and those who have seen a Keystone comedy, this announcement alone should be of sufficient importance to pack the spacious Bijou to its doors.

The latest styles of Paris for evening gowns and wraps for spring and summer of 1914 is one of the events of interest that will be shown on the issue of Pathe's Weekly that will also be seen on the Bijou screen for today and tomorrow.

EMPRESS ATTRACTION LUBIN PRODUCTION OF UNUSUAL MERIT

Another of the well balanced interesting and entertaining programs which have been offered of late at the Empress theater is scheduled for today and tomorrow. Two excellent photodramas and a comedy to give the proper contrast, form the bill.

"The Puritan" a beautiful Lubin production touched upon a most appealing theme. The good qualities of mankind are splendidly shown and again the story loses none of its strong and outstanding elements of entertainment.

Evelyn Nester, a girl of gentle nature, has, in order to care for her invalid mother and sister, for sometime been a cabaret performer at the restaurant of one Brady, a repulsive brute, who has taken a fancy to her. One Sunday Evelyn goes to a village church near the city. The organist is absent, and she volunteers to take her place. There she meets Abner Duncan, a young and wealthy man, but a stern puritan. They fall in love and are soon the subject of gossip. Duncan in his narrowness has not faith enough in his own heart to accept her and Evelyn goes to the village no more. The doctor has told the girl that to save her mother's life she must be sent south, and Evelyn tries to borrow the necessary money from Brady. He refuses the loan but tells her that he will make her a wedding present of one thousand dollars. By and by Duncan resolves that he must have Evelyn and goes to the city to find her. Applying at the restaurant he is shown to the private apartment upstairs. There Evelyn draws the curtains aside and shows the repulsive form of Brady in a drunken stupor. She tells Duncan that his awakening is too late, that for a week she has been the wife of Brady. Crushed, Duncan stumbles away as Evelyn re-reads a telegram from the south stating that her sacrifice was in vain, that the mother had died that morning.

The feature of the program however is a two-part picture "Hearts of Women." It will appeal to the women and interest the gentlemen, for it shows what they have always known, that women's ways are past finding out. Here is where they find some things they never knew. The play is full of dramatic intensity and sustaining grasp throughout.

LEADING LADY TAKES THREE PARTS IN PLAY AT MONARCH THEATER

At the Monarch theater today will be shown the first of the Gold Seal series. Miss Cunard, the leading lady, takes the part of three people and their doubles all at one time.

In this feature there are scenes of the underworld, also the filthy back alleys of the tenement houses. Then the picture is shifted to a beautiful home of society leaders. The two sides of life brought together in conflict, where the exposure of the lower class means the exposure of hypocrisy and moral weakness, and the other has a strong effect on the spectator.

The story is about Grace, the crook, having been acquitted after all Detective Keely's evidence had failed to convict her. In the divorce which she frequents she finds a society woman, almost her double, and the confusion that follows the story is clever and interesting.

For Friday and Saturday the Monarch will offer Mary Pickford, in "Hearts Adrift." Presented by the Famous Players' Film company, and Daniel Frohman.

By a special arrangement the management has succeeded in being able to show the Famous Players films at regular prices. Children afternoon, 5c; adults 10c; nights, children 10c, adults 15c.

"THE HOLY CITY" COMING TO EMPIRE INDORSED BY CLERGY

Ten years ago, when the first production of the "Holy City" was rendered, ministers were inclined to doubt the propriety or morality of a Bible play on so sacred a subject, some going so far as to brand it, unheard, as a sacrilege. But upon the author's earnest invitation to them to visit it, their denunciations were turned to praise and they have become its highest eulogists, and often solicit and advise their parishioners to see the play, declaring it the most vivid and lifelike lesson on the life and times of John the Baptist and our Saviour that has ever been presented in this country. There is no man or woman so depraved but that will bow the head in reverence when he hears his tiny child lisp "Now I lay me down to sleep." So it is with this beautiful play. While it does not contain one laugh, the lightest and most frivolous will be most charmed and sinful are held entranced and spellbound. It commands reverence; it does not ask it. Its earnest realism thrills us, whether we will or will not.

"The Holy City" is making a special tour of western Canada this season for the first time, under the personal management and direction of the well-known theatrical firm of Sherman & Aylesworth, who have given us such excellent offerings as "The Rosary," "The Barrier," etc., and we are assured of a production of unusual excellence.

"The Holy City" comes to the Empire for three nights commencing Thursday, April 16, and the coming engagement is creating more than usual interest among local theater goers.

President Lill it is explained some time ago felt that it would be to the interest of sport in general if the Canadian amateur union and the amateur athletic union of the United States, entered into an alliance whereby they would not only recognize each others decisions and penalties, but would also recognize each others registration cards. To reach such an agreement, it is understood is the purpose of the coming conference.

CARPENTIER AND MITCHELL MEET SOON IN PARIS

A Real Nice Little Sporting Event for $1000 Purse.

London, April 13.—Considerable interest in English and French sporting circles has been aroused over the boxing bout to be held in Paris either next Tuesday or Wednesday between the French champion, Georges Carpentier, and the British amateur, George Mitchell. When recently Carpentier beat the English pro champion Bombardier Wells, Mitchell said to a friend who was also a friend of Carpentier, that he thought he could do better. One thing led to another, till finally Carpentier was approached and asked to meet Mitchell in a six round bout before a few friends, Carpentier, in a sporting spirit agreed to meet the Englishman for $1,000.

Mitchell comes of fighting stock, his father was Tom Mitchell, who in his younger days possessed a reputation as an amateur, and George himself recently won the northern counties heavyweight amateur championship beating his opponent in half a round. George is a nephew of Percy Illingworth, chief governament whip, who is a fine all-round sportsman, celebrated as an oarsman at Cambridge, and also known for his skill with the gloves. George's father is the magistrate who once captured a burglar in his house and gave him the option of jail or a few rounds with the gloves. The burglar choose the latter and was duly knocked out. His conqueror then gave the burglar a good breakfast and set him free.

Englishmen hope to see George retrieve the boxing laurels for England but his father says he has not got a cat's chance, while his brother who is equally clever with his fists says he will probably get his jaw cracked.

"Knockouts"

Walter Kelly, Cleveland fight expert, after seeing Jess Willard in action, announces the big fellow exhibited rare skill. One shade of meaning attributed to the word rare by your old friend Webster is "raw."

Joe Jeanette hasn't been in form since he ceased fighting Sam Langford, and Sam seems to be terribly lonesome and out of condition. Get together, fellahs.

Georges Carpentier and Joe Jeanette are said to be signed up again. Georges taking the place of Sam Langford in the celebrated tango duo.

Johnny Coulon, bantamweight champ., never gets his hair mussed in a fight.

P. S.—Johnny has no hair.

Tommy Murphy is on his way to San Francisco, where he expects to meet Willie Ritchie, showing what a great little optimist he is.

Walter Newman, the Texas Leaguer who knocked out John J. McGraw, is one real wise little fighter. He stuck McGraw from behind, thus taking no chances of being handed one in front.

Suggestion to John L. Sullivan: Why not take a wallop at some of the present-day fighters? You haven't knocked out a white hope for two hours, John.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT

A large number of prizes have been donated by merchants and others in the city and the competition in all events promises to be keen. Complete results of all games and tournament news will be published on this page each day.

ESKIMOS MAKE GOOD SHOWING AGAINST SEATTLE

Lost Saturday's Game 2-1 and Sunday's 3-2—"Stub" Spencer Stars.

The Edmonton Eskimos lost two games to Seattle. In Saturday's game Stub Spencer was behind the bat receiving from Kileen for eight innings and from Spauling in the ninth. The game ended 2-1 for the Seattle Northwestern leaguers. Bonner and Wally were the Seattle battery on Saturday and the game was the most closely contested this season, and but for a couple of costly errors in the field, the Eskimos might have purloined the long end of the score. Stub Spencer grabbed two hits off Bonner, besides receiving in fine style behind the bat.

Sunday's game was won by the home team 3-2, a large crowd witnessing the game. Stub Spencer was again wearing the mask with Jack Clayton and Spaulding doing the mound work. Only three hits were made off the three Seattle pitchers used, Reddick, Redmond and Spaulding being responsible for the hits.

Lou Nordyke's Eskimos are shaping up in fine style and compare most favorably with the Saskatoon Quakers and other Western Canada league teams, and some real baseball may be expected around the circuit this summer.

BIG LEAGUE UMPIRES WILL ENFORCE RULES

New York, April 13.—Umpires of the National league received their instructions for the season and were assigned for the opening games on Tuesday next at the league headquarters here today. In the absence of President John K. Tener, who was prevented from attending, Secretary John A. Heydler presided.

The playing rules as amended this year were thoroughly discussed with a view to securing uniform decisions on various points.

The balk rule will also be enforced as last season in those cases where pitchers with men on bases drop the ball either by intent or accidentally while in the act of delivering to the batter or in throwing to first base. The umpires were also instructed to enforce strictly the new rule preventing a coacher at third base from touching a base runner. A runner trying for or rounding that base who, either through accident or design, comes in contact with the coacher will be declared out.

Cleveland, April 13.—Cleveland Athletic club 3, Toronto Rugby Association 1.

STAGE IS SET FOR OPENING OF MAJOR LEAGUES

Baseball Moguls Predict Season of Exciting Pennant Races.

New York, April 13.—On the eve of the major league baseball season the executive and magnates of the American and National leagues predict another six months of exciting pennant races and general prosperity. Organized baseball ignoring the invasion of its field by the newly formed Federal group of owners and players, reiterates its faith in the loyalty of its followers and the standard of the game as played by its clubs.

Both President Ban Johnson of the American league and President John Tener of the National league in outlining the prospects of their respective organizations for the 1914 season express the belief that organized baseball will receive the confidence and support accorded it by the devotees of the game in past years. In fact, optimism, harmony and enthusiasm appear to be the words of the major leagues as represented by their presidents a few hours before initial contests of the new baseball year.

President Johnson says: "I think the quality of baseball to be played this year will equal or excel that of the past.

Tom McMahon little realized the effect when he whipped Jess Willard. Now the public will have to stand for several columns of alibi stuff by Tom Jones.

SPORTS GATHERED FROM EAST AND WEST

Over-confidence in sport has very often just as disastrous an effect as lack of confidence. Both strip the athlete of ability and seriously impair his powers. Over-confidence, according to the view of Tommy Dunderdale, cost the Victoria hockey club the worlds professional championship. To a man the coast champions believed they were superior to Toronto, N. H. A. winners and were not prepared for the gruelling battle that the easterners exposed.

Vancouver hockey players who have been touring the east arrived home yesterday.

The largest gate taken in at any match in England was at the English cup final between Aston Villa and Sunderland, at Crystal Palace, on April 19, 1913. The receipts amounted to $45,000, with 120,026 people paying admission. Scotland holds the record in point of numbers, however, an attendance of 127,307 spectators being recorded at the International between England and Scotland at New Hampden, on March 23, 1912. The largest baseball figures (unofficial) were attained in the 1911 world series, when 38,281 people paid $77,359 to see the first game of the series.

The Toronto post office baseball team has reorganized for the season with P. J. Hallman as manager, who expects to have a winning team, and the prospect of a steady climb to the top in the Civil Service league.

Horsemen from the states who visited Western Canada last year to race say that it was the best circuit of half-mile tracks they had ever raced over an d the uniform good treatment they received has induced them to praise the managrs of this circuit so much that many othr trainers from the states as well as all over Canada will ener there this year. Some trainers complain that it is too far to ship, but when they stop to figure that $107,750 is distributed to harness horses alone and 15 weeks of god racing is in sight, with the tracks in that circuit within short shipping distances, the first long ship to the opening point at Edmonton, Alta, is worth taking.

Kingston, April 8.—A banquet was tendered to the members of the senior and junior Frontenac hockey teams in the Hotel Randolph. The players were presented with gold watch, gold fobs and diamond rings. Mayor Shaw made the presentations. Representatives were present from all the local hockey clubs.

Toronto lawn bowling clubs have a new competition ahead of them during the season that is rapidly approaching. It is a seven-man affair of the challenge variety. When the Canadian team was abroad last summer they were presented with seven solid silver cups, valued at $150, and these will be up for play as soon as the greens are ready.

The annual tournament of the Pacific Northwest Golf association will be held on the links of the Seattle club June 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Switzerland has prohibited sweepstakes on English horse-races. The Swiss government thinks that life in the little republic is now enough of a game of chance, without adding new elements. The chances in Switzerland are many—the chance of being buried alive beneath an avalanche, the chance of falling into a bottomless abyss, and the chance of not having enough money with which to pay your hotel bill. What need has such a country of sweepstakes?"

Monday, April 13, is the date set for the opening of the Federal league season. According to Ban Johnson July 4 will see the finish.

Tremendous interest has been aroused not only in the United States but in England as well, by the action of the Oxford University Athletic association in sending their four-mile relay team to compete against the pick of the American colleges in the University of Pennsylvania's 26th annual relay carnival to be staged on Franklin Field, Philadelphia, April 25.

The skating season at Vancouver's artificial ice arena was brought to a close on Saturday. The Victoria arena closed a month ago.

Lester Patrick, the Victoria hockey magnate, denies the report that he has tendered a contract to Dick Irvin, the Winnipeg amateur. Lester says the youngster is not yet ripe for professional company.

Cincinnati, April 13.—The Boston Americans shut out the Cincinnati Nationals yesterday 4 to 0.

News of the Markets

Winnipeg Wheat.

Winnipeg, April 13.—The wheat market was extremely quiet and trading light in all lines. A semi holiday feeling was around, and with scarcity of news from Europe owing to the Easter holidays there was little inclination to do business. A despatch says conditions in Germany and Russia were somewhat bullish and news from Oklahoma is to the effect that fields there are infested generally with green bugs and although no harm has been done, the weather is favorable for the development. Further rains have occurred over the southwest, with cool temperatures.

Wheat and oat prices were heading about steady while flax was decidedly weak.

A late report from Tennessee says that a large part of the wheat crop jointed two weeks ago was killed by frost Wednesday and Thursday. Winnipeg opened unchanged to 1-8 higher and closed 1-4 to 3-8 higher.

Minneapolis opened 1-4 to 1-2 higher and closed 3-8 to 3-4 higher.

Chicago opened unchanged to 1-8 higher and closed 2-8 to 3-4 higher.

Chicago opened unchanged to 1-8 lower, strengthening later and closing 1-2 to 5-8 advance.

The cash situation is unchanged very little business being done in cash grain. Prices closed as follows: Wheat 3-8 higher for contract grades; oats 1-4 lower to 1-8 higher. Barley unchanged to 1-4 lower; flax 2 cents lower for all grades.

Inspections Thursday totalled 141 against 410 last year and in sight 500 cars.

Montreal Produce.

Montreal, April 12.—Owing to the increased receipts of butter a weaker feeling has developed in the market and prices have declined 1 1-2c to 2c per pound, with sales of finest new milk creamery at 27 1-2 to 28c and finest held stock at 26c to 27c. Receipts for the week were 2,862 packages, as compared with 1,515 for the same week last year

The demand for eggs is good at steady prices. Receipts for the week were 13,566 cases, against 13,514 for the corresponding week a year ago. Cheese, finest western, 14 3-4 to 15 1-4; finest eastern, 14 to 14 1-2.

Butter, choicest creamery, 27 1-2 to 28; seconds, 26 to 27.

Eggs, fresh, 21 to 23; selected, 25.

Pork, heavy Canada short mess bris, 35 to 45; prss., 29; short cut back bris, 45 to 55; prss., 28 1-2.

Chicago Cattle.

Chicago, April 13.—Cattle receipts 2,000; market steady. Beeves 730 to 950; Texas steers 730 to 835; western steers 565 to 810; stockers and feeders 375 to 885; calves 700 to 1050.

Hog receipts 9,000. Heavy receipts 9,000; heavy 845 to 890; rough 845 to 855; pigs 750 to 860; bulk 850 to 887; sheep receipts 25,000, market unchanged. Native 540 to 700; yearlings 680 to 750; lambs, native, 650 to 815.

Chicago Wheat.

Chicago, April 13.—Uneasiness over the green bugs in Oklahoma had much to do today with an advance in the price of wheat. Largely because of this the market closed steady at a gain of 2-3 to 1-2 @ 5-8 net.

Despite an opinion by a crop expert that the green bugs had done no damage to wheat as yet, buying on the part of one Chicago firm alone amounted to nearly 2,000,000 bushels. Information was that the insects were freely distributed in the best Oklahoma counties and the indications suggested the spread of the bugs.

World shipments were expected to show a decided falling off and there was talk that Nebraska needed rain. The market at no time shows andy important reaction. Only wheat unsettled, but finally displayed most sympathy for the down turn in coin. The chief contending influence was the weather hindrance to planting.

London Stocks.

London, April 13—Although the stock market were closed Saturday the monthly market was operating the this will be closed Monday. Call money was very easy without demand at 1 per cent. while bill rates were firm, three months paper being negotiated at 1 15-16. Bankers are now of the opinion that no reduction of bank rate by the bank of England is likely until the bank is able to increase its gold reserve, which is impossible while foreign loan flotations encourage a steady afflux of money.

The general trade and financial situation is regarded as excellent. The increase over $81,000,0000 in exports the past three months as against an increase of only $3,500,0000 in imports proves that credits are increasing abroad while the operation of the new banking law in the Unite States promises an increase edupply of gold from the United States to Europe when pressure develops. The outlook for the market after the holidays is excellent. The big bear position on Canadian rails foreshdows a good recovery in that group when the affect of the bear campaign by reduction in freight rates passes away, as it is expected will be the case when the real facts reach this side.

The only cloud on the horizon is that in Mexico, unless in the negotiations aimed at restoring normal financial conditions in Brazil.

The financial group which has been organizing assistance desires to float a loan to cover the obligations of the Brazil railway in addition to the other necessities but the Rotchilds who are co-operating with the group dissent and prices have declined 1 1-2c to 2c per pound, with sales of finest new milk creamery at 27 1-2 to 28c and finest held stock at 26c to 27c. CANADIAN PACIFIC'S GREAT TUNNEL IN WEST IS BUILDING RAPIDLY

Advices received at Canadian Pacific headquarters indicate that the work of the great tunnel in the west is proceeding rapidly. Eleven hundred feet on the east side have been driven, about 50 per cent., of the approach has been cut on the west end. Mr. J. G. Sullivan, who is the chief engineer for the west, and who goes about planning for work and seeing that when planned it is efficiently carried out, has just returned from a visit to the tunnel which he states is being proceeded with in a most vigorous and successful manned. Mr. Sullivan states that this program will mean, for the year, at least $20,000,000 of outlay. A great part of this money will be spent in British Columbia on the double track work; there are also about 60 miles of new line to be laid on the prairie. Rails and ties will be a big item; the work on the tunnel will call for large outlays; while the doubletracking always constitutes big disbursements. All this work, as Mr. Sullivan points out, is part of the old program—if it can be called out. It originated four years ago. It is part of a great plan which is to be gradually realized, from year to year, until it is all complete—a plan which contemplates the entire double-tracking of the entire system. This alone would take years and many millions of dollars. The work, however, will be prosecuted with steady perseverence.

When realized, it will be the biggest undertaking of modern times. The Canadian Pacific has spent, before now, from $60,000,000 to $100,000,000 in the west in a single season. It has mentioned its outlay this year, for 1914 will not be a year of thrills.

It is not without interest to know that Mr. J. G. Sullivan was the first assistant engineer to Mr. Stevens when the latter was in charge of the Panama Canal before the advent of Colonel Goethals. Quite a number of important railway men were at work on the great ditch in positions of great responsibility and trust; and it is related of Mr. Edward J. Williams, paymaster of the Chicago and North Western railway, that when he was disbursing officer at the Canal he paid out $250,000,000.

Another Plea for Gunmen

New York, April 13.—Supreme court Justice Goff on Friday signed an order making it mandatory for District Attorney Whitman to show cause why the four gun men now in Sing Sing awaiting death in the electric chair for the part they played in the murder of Herman Rosenthal the gambler, should not have a new legal trial. Fresh evidence was obtained on the ground that no evidence had been discovered.

NEW TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILWAY WILL GREATLY INFLUENCE THE FUTURE

April 13, 1914, will go down in history as a date marking an era in advanced transportation facilities in western Canada. On this date the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, which has been under construction from Lake Superior westward, and from the Pacific coast (Prince Rupert, B.C.) eastward, was connected up at the Nechako river, in British Columbia, so that now the steel ribbons stretch from the Pacific ocean to the Great lakes.

It is hard to fully appreciate the far-reaching importance and advantages that this new transcontinental railway will have on the future of the vast domain which it traverses, opening up as it does a hitherto practically untouched hinterland, rich in natural resources.

Traveling westward from the Great lakes (Fort William), a portion served by transportation facilities is traversed. This section is wonderfully attractive to the tourist and sportsman, for its numerous inland lakes, teeming with fish, that are interspersed between rock and forest, present and ever interesting panorama to the traveler.

The prairie provinces with their apparently boundless acres of virgin, fertile soil, dotted at short intervals with the homes of already happy and prosperous farmers, are crossed through a territory not heretofore served. The millions of bushels of grain that have been shipped from these provinces every year exemplify the great wealth that is hidden in the soil and which only awaits the settler to cultivate to repay a thousand fold. Flourishing towns have sprung up and with the permanent backing of the agricultural and stock-raising country surrounding them, will undoubtedly continue to grow and develop into cities and form a market at the settlers' doors for much of their products.

British Columbia, in addition to having large tracts of arable land adapted for agricultural and horticultural pursuits, stands out pre-eminently as the tourist's and sportsman's Mecca, unsurpassed for the grandeur of its scenery. The Grand Trunk Pacific railway runs through a section of the province replete with wild natural beauty. Snow-capped mountains tower thousands of feet above while all around, canyons with raging torrents, valley and woodland, are ever passed, while at intervals primitive Indian villages, with totem poles standing in front as sentinels, mark the slow passing of the great race of red men, who for centuries held sway, but who now must make way for the ever steadily advance of the white settler who claims his heritage from the fertile soil that for centuries has been undisturbed. The mineral resources are being rapidly and satisfactorily developed, whereas the fisheries are recognized as the best in the entire world.

Through the instrumentality of the Grand Trunk Pacific these great new sections of country will be developed, and with fast time and the last word in equipment, the best markets will be brought close. This railway will contribute to the general upbuilding of an empire within an empire, and ever stand as a monument to the men who built and who operate it.

"SWORD OF DAMOCLES" IS FINE FEATURE AT DREAMLAND THEATER

A powerfully worked out two-reel number, with Eleanor Woodruff, Irving Cummings and Gerald Harcourt in the cast is included in the program at the Dreamland theater today. In the story the successful operatic composer, who has lost his touch, buys the rights of a score from a broken down composer. This he brings out as his own composition, but the real writer of the score comes in during the performance and exposes the miscreant, who kills himself with the hanging sword. This is finely photographed and sincerely presented; it carries conviction in every scene. A very good offering.

"Cupid Versus Women's Rights" is a dandy Vitagraph comedy, featuring Maurice Costello and Clara Kimball Young. Showing how Cupid's dart pierces the banner of a would-be suffragette in the shadows of the Egyptian tombs and ancient ruins.

The "Pathe Weekly" is very interesting this time. Some fine scenes of the New York dog show, showing some 2,000 bow-wows brought together by the Westminster Kennel club, the greatest dog show ever held in that city.

VIOLINIST AND FINE OPERA SINGER PLEASE AT EMPRESS CONCERT

The concert last evening by Collins' Concert orchestra at the Empress theater was as usual patronized by a large and enthusiastic audience. The opening march "Pomp and Circumstance" by Edgar was especially well rendered. The vocal solo by Mrs. Bennett was well received which proved that she will stand as one of Edmonton's favorites although suffering from a heavy cold and unable to do justice to her numbers. The violinist, Mr. Tom De Stefano, who is in Edmonton visiting friends, was the surprise feature of the evening. The Mazurka de Concert of Musina was interpreted in such a masterly manner and with such artistic temperment that when he finished the number he had already captured his audience. For an encore he selected th Beethoven minuet in which number he showed his tone coloring to be of exceptional rareness. The finale "The Wee McGregor Patrol" concluded one of the most enjoyable concerts of the season. Mr. Collins will in future play only one concert from 8.30 to 10 p.m.

ANTARCTIC LECTURE TO BE HEARD HERE ON THURSDAY WEEK

Commander Evans of the Scott expedition will spend one day in Edmonton on Thursday April 23. Unfortunately owing to the lecture engagements in England, Commander Evans was able to give only seven weeks to the States and Canada, only the most important points being visited. Calgary and Edmonton will both be included in his Canadian tour which will extend to Vancouver. There is only time for one American city on the west coast, and this will probably be Seattle.

His lecture on the Scott south pole expedition will be given here at the Empire auditorium. This is a very large auditorium and the large number of people that will, doubtless, be desirous of hearing him, can be well taken care of. Fortunately Commander Evans has a splendid voice capable of filling the largest halls. His addresses in the east have been delivered in the largest auditorium available and the press have commented upon his success as a speaker. His first lecture was given before the National Geographical society in Washington before a very distinguished gathering. A huge audience greeted him at Carnegie hall in New York and his reception there, as has been the case at each point visited, was most enthusiastic. Whole pages were devoted to him in the New York paper and our American cousins gave him a welcome that could not have been more hearty even in Evans' own home land.

Commander Evans was the last man to see Scott alive. It will be recollected that his own trip back was almost as heroic as Scott's. Taken with the scurvy, he implored his two companions to leave him and save themselves but they would not and risked their own lives to save their commander. Evans is still in active service and was granted leave of absence in order that this particular tour might be taken. The lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides made from photographs taken on the expedition including a number by Dr. Wilson which were taken on the Polar dash and were found with the bodies. Evans also will show the pick of the moving pictures taken on the expedition.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM BUT SMALL AUDIENCE AT CITIZENS' BAND

The concert given by the Citizens' band in the Bijou theater last evening was not patronized by as large an audience as the music deserved. The band played its program in its usual good style. There were two vocalists, Miss Helen Webber, who was as usual, well received, and J. S. Keltie, the Scottish tenor. Mr. Keltie is new to the public platform in Edmonton, but his very clear and sweet singing assures him of being heard again.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Macleod, Mrs. W. R. Macleod and Mrs. (Dr.) B. Douglas, all of Prince Albert, are on a few days' visit to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Biggar, of the Belmont apartments, Syndicate and Picard. Mr. and Mrs. Macleod have not been in Edmonton for ten years, and came on a Saskatchewan river boat at that time, when the trip took ten days each way.

A. R. Mackenzie Here.

A. R. Mackenzie, chief clerk in the office of the general superintendent of the Canadian Northern railway, came in on the Canadian Northern express from Winnipeg. He has been visiting Winnipeg, Rainy River and other eastern points.

Visits Edmonton Friends.

Dr. J. Lynch, of Saskatoon, is visiting friends in Edmonton. He came up on the Canadian Northern.

Theaters and Picture Shows

MARTIN HARVEY STATES HE WILL BE BACK HERE SOON

Seldom if ever have such large and fashionable audiences attended a theater in this city as they did during Martin Harvey's return visit.

On Saturday afternoon Edmonton theatergoers had the pleasure of seeing Mr. Harvey in "A Cigarette Maker's Romance" which is a role of Mr. Harvey's entirely new to an Edmonton audience. He plays the part of Count Skariatine who from an accident suffers a lapse of memory for over eight years during which time he is employed in a cigarette maker's shop where he makes true friends amongst the fellow workers. Charles J. Cameron takes the role of Anton Skariatine, the count's cousin, and endeavors to keep the count from regaining his memory and deprive him of the titles and estates which in the count's absence he is usurping. Count Skariatine gives a brilliant scene which is very effective at the end of the second act when the midnight chimes are tolling the hour and he tries to stop them because at this hour he is expecting friends to arrive who would pay fifty marks to uphold his honor to his employer for a small ornament that had been broken. Miss N. de Silva played the part of Viera who becomes enamored with the count and unknown to him cuts off her hair in order to obtain money enough to repay his debt. In the end the count receives his memory and estates and the bogus count is discountenanced.

In the evening Mr. Harvey again played "The Breed of the Treshams" which is the third performance before audience in this city, and from appearances he could play a season to packed houses.

After the last act Mr. Harvey responded to repeated calls and thanked the audience for the gratifying way in which they had received him and was pleased to inform them that he would not say "good-bye," but "au revoir," and hoped that before long return the management would build a much larger theater which would do credit to the city of Edmonton. Nevertheless, continued Mr. Harvey, "I will always hold in my memory the most fond remembrances of the kindly reception tendered to myself and company in this little playhouse by the people of Edmonton."

REGIMENTAL BAND HEARD AT BEST IN LYCEUM THEATER

The members of the regimental band pleased a fairly large audience at the concert given in the Lyceum theater last evening. The vocalist for the evening was David Jones. He was in fine voice and sang several songs. His singing of "Marguerite" aroused the audience to much enthusiasm. For an encore he rendered "Love is Mine," and received much applause.

The band, under the direction of Lieutenant G. P. Horsley, gave a first-class rendition of the musical numbers, and the audience expressed their approval in the usual manner.
